EV'RY MONTH FOR AUGUST.

Here. 10 CENTS Here. A COPY

Ev'ry Month for August includes between its pretty colored covers the usual variety of matter which it is its custom to present. There are its usual quota of music selections, including a song, "Where Go the Boats?" of which the words are Robert Louis Stevenson's, set to music by Augusta Preston Bedell; "Apollinaris," a schottische, by Monroe H. Rosenfeld; "Heart Longings," nocturne, by Edouard Holst, and "If You'll Be a Good Little Girl," song and chorus, by Charles Graham, all of which are good. The short stories contained are of high merit from a short-story standpoint, and the editorial reflections which are featured in this magazine are equally interesting, with the added charm of moral vigor. The number has a fine typographical appearance, owing to the number of illustrations, which include photographs of leading men and women, beautiful paintings and decorative designs.—[Newport Daily News, August 1, 1896.

COMMENT COPIOUS.

Bryan's Speech Entirely Satisfactory to His Republican Opponents.

CANTON, Ohio, August 14.—The comment on Bryan's New York speech here yesterday and today has been very copious. Major McKinley finished reading his opponent's oration at 10:30 o'clock this morning. He was too busy yesterday to go through it. When he came to the end and laid the paper down, Major McKinley looked up with a pleasant, contented smile, as much as to say: "If this is the strongest effort of our free silver friends, we need not despair of winning a victory for sound money."

The sedate Democrats of Canton are emphatic in the expressions of their disappointment with Bryan's Madison Square Garden speech, but on the other hand the noisy wing of the party commends it as a deep, potent and statesmanlike effort. The Republicans view the speech with smiling unconcern, and declare that it will make no votes in the East and that Mr. Bryan's arguments will be riddled by General Harrison and Bourke Cockran in New York next week, and by General Stewart L. Woodford at the opening meeting of the Ohio campaign in Columbus tomorrow. It is understood that General Woodford will devote his time to a discussion of Mr. Bryan's speech, and as he has a great reputation as a talker on finance his remarks will be awaited with interest by all parties.

MONEY EASY AT ST. LOUIS.

Banks Have Plenty of Funds for Legitimate Business.

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—The tightness of the money market elsewhere is not reflected in local banking circles, and St. Louis bankers have an ample supply of funds for the legitimate needs of their regular customers. A rumor gained circulation on change yesterday that banks were refusing all time loans. A number of banks were visited, and at all of them the situation was described in terms that showed no substantial variation. "We have plenty of money," said a banker, "for the legitimate business needs of our regular customers, but are not seeking outside paper, nor are we making loans to persons suspected of a purpose to use the money for speculative purposes." In confirmation of this it was learned that a well known speculator on change, whose paper is considered good, was refused a ninety days' loan, although he offered one per cent. per month for the accommodation.

SEWALL SATISFIED.

Thinks Bryan's Speech Will Bring the Ticket Many Votes.

NEW YORK, August 14.—There were very few callers this morning at the Democratic national headquarters at the Hotel Bartholdi. An important conference, in which Senator Jones, Governor Stone of Missouri and Senator Gorman took part, was held all the forenoon in Senator Jones's room at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. It was rumored this morning that Candidate Bryan will leave New York tomorrow, and will proceed to Irvington-on-the-Hudson as the guest of John Brisbane Walker at his country seat there.

Mr. Bryan will speak in Buffalo August 27, and at Erie, Penn., August 28. He will then go to Lincoln, Neb., to be formally notified by the silver party of his nomination. After that he will go south and make additional speeches. He will then visit the New England states, and spend some time with Mr. Sewall at Bath, Maine.

Mr. Sewall, when seen at the Fifth Avenue this morning, announced that he would leave for his home in Maine in a day or two. He said that he was very well satisfied with the way things were shaping themselves in the campaign. "I am convinced," said he, "that the speech made by Mr. Bryan was a powerful argument in favor of our cause, and will bring the ticket many votes."

Steamer St. Paul Cutting Down the Record.

NEW YORK, August 14.—American line steamer St. Paul has broken the westward record from Southampton. She was sighted crossing Sandy Hook bar at 9:35 a. m. She has beaten the record made recently by the St. Louis by nearly an hour.

The St. Paul passed in at Sandy Hook at 9:46. Allowing her forty minutes from the lightship, she has beaten the record by about an hour and a half, and her time is about six days and one hour.

American Protestant Association.

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—The convention of the American Protestant Association finished its work yesterday. The committee on ritual reported favorably on the one degree initiation, but the matter was laid over until next year. The annual meeting next year will be held in Trenton, N. J. The grand treasurer's report showed the association to be in a solid financial condition. A committee of three was appointed to establish and take charge of a beneficiary fund. It was agreed that the death rate benefit should be between $250 and $500.

Nominated After Nearly Four Hundred Ballots.

REED CITY, Mich., August 14.—The deadlock in the Eleventh district Republican Congressional convention was broken early this morning, when W. T. Mosier of Manistee was nominated on the three hundred and sixty-third ballot.

Bank Robbers Secured $10,000.

SALT LAKE, Utah, August 14.—Later reports from Montpelier, Idaho, place the amount taken from the bank of Montpelier by the three robbers yesterday at $10,000. The outlaws struck out for the Jackson's Hole country, with the sheriff and a posse of thirty men in pursuit.

Drowned with a Drowning Child.

TOLEDO, Ohio, August 14.—Lena Gurley, aged twelve years, went out of her depth while bathing yesterday. George Danterman, a prominent merchant, tried to save her, and both were drowned. Danterman leaves seven orphans.

Prohibitionist Candidate Arraigns the Old Parties.

CHICAGO, August 14.—Paul Johnson of Newton, Ill., was formally notified here last night of his nomination by the Prohibitionist convention at Pittsburg for the office of Vice President of the United States. In accepting the nomination Mr. Johnson scathingly arraigned the old parties on the charge of responsibility for continuance of the liquor traffic, its growth and its power in politics, and for deceiving the people by promising good times with each new national administration and not fulfilling such promises.

Disastrous Floods in India.

LONDON, August 14.—A despatch from Bombay to a news agency says that terrible floods have occurred through the overflowing of the river Kisna. The damage to property is immense, and thousands of persons have been rendered homeless, their houses having been swept away. Two hundred persons were drowned by the sinking of a boat at Tatura. The overflowing water from the river has washed out a breach seven miles long in the Nizam of Hyderabad railway.

Water in the Boiler was Too Low.

NAVASTO, Texas, August 14.—An explosion occurred at the Summersford saw mill, near here, yesterday, killing William Henry, Ben Johnson and James Winsers, and injuring four others, M. H. Henry, Ned Henry and Edward Johnson fatally. The explosion was caused by the water in the boiler getting too low.

WITH RENEWED VIGOR.

Hot Wave Resumes Business in Oklahoma, After a Rest.

GUTHRIE, Ok., August 14.—After a slight fall in the temperature for forty-eight hours, the hot wave started in with renewed vigor yesterday, and the mercury reached 100 degrees. There were several prostrations but no fatalities. The city water supply is short, and lawns and flowers are burning up and cotton and late corn are being damaged.

Nebraska Populists Favorable to Fusion.

LINCOLN, Neb., August 14.—At a meeting of the Populist state executive committee last night sentiment was favorable to fusion with the free-silver Democrats on the state and national tickets, but the Populists will insist on naming candidates of their own for Congress in the five districts outside the First.

Iowa Sound-Money Democrats.

DES MOINES, Iowa, August 14.—The provisional state committee of the Iowa sound-money Democracy last night issued a call for a state convention of the national Democratic party for August 26 in this city. The committee took no action with reference to the question of putting state and Congressional tickets in the field.

Drought and Famine in Mexico.

GUANAJOTO, Mexico, August 14.—The drought is having a terrible effect in this state. The food famine among the poor has caused a number of deaths. Although a large quantity of corn has been imported from the United States, the suffering people have no money with which to buy it.

All of these rugs are in perfect order and very fine in texture. Rugs of this nature have been ordinarily sold from $18.00 to $30.00, but on account of the troubles in the East our agent has collected them at much below the usual prices; hence we have marked them

AT SOUTHWICK'S GROVE.

Large Crowds Attend the Commercial Club's Field Day.

The field day at Southwick's Grove yesterday was attended by such a crowd of people as to show that Newporters are anxious to take in a clambake and have a day's outing in a cool place, and that no better place for such an affair than the Grove could well be found. The drive out was in a hot sun, but once inside the gate all signs of the heated spell were lost and the crowd seemed disposed to loll about and enjoy life. Men, women and children were scattered all over the grounds, enjoying the cool air and the lively scene. The commissary department was completely exhausted by the demand for dinners, and after the first table the service was not what it should have been, simply because the waiters were exhausted. There was an abundance and to spare of excellent food, and many helped themselves. With this exception everything seemed to pass off smoothly. The transportation to the grove, under the management of James Corrigan, was the best ever seen, in spite of the fact that the crowd was probably the largest ever carried to the Grove from Newport. Detective Richards had men on guard to prevent overworking of the horses, and found that the supervision was needless, as all the drivers were careful. After the dinner and sports the dancing pavilion and the vaudeville entertainment were the centres of attraction. The Newport orchestra furnished music and J. S. Nuss prompted.

The athletic sports and the bicycle races were held on the little lawn in the grove. This was large enough for the sports, but too small for the wheelmen, but it gave the spectators a good view from under the surrounding trees, where the heat of the past week had not reached. The sports brought out very good work, especially in the pole vault and the hitch and kick. The great interest, however, was in the bicycle races, which caused all other business to be suspended. The crowd standing all around the track under the trees made a very pretty picture, and the races, especially the three-mile race, were excellent contests. There was a poor turn at one corner on the home stretch, over a rough piece of ground, that bothered the riders considerably, and here Sayer had hard luck, having two falls in the three-mile race and one in the mile contest, which lost him first place in both. The tumbles on the soft grass hurt no one, not even the spectators' feelings and the wheelmen appeared satisfied with the track, even if it was small.

The ball game, between the Fort Adams and Volunteer teams, was played in an adjoining lot, which was not so smooth as Morton Park and caused considerable fun to the spectators by giving grounders unexpected bounds. In spite of the ground the game was well played, the Forts winning easily, 9 to [illegible] in seven innings. Chapin and McGuire formed the battery for the victors and Sullivan and Martin for the losers. Messrs. Sullivan and Albro umpired. The summary of the sports is as follows:

One-hundred yard race for men—1, Joseph Martin, $5 in gold; 2, G. Donohue, Derby hat; 3, E. Delaney, straw hat.

Boys' race, 100 yards—1, John McManus, suit of clothes; 2, Edward Barry, accordion; 3, N. [illegible], pocket knife.

Vaulting with pole—1, John Nagle, 8 feet [illegible] inches, pair of patent leather shoes; 2, D. Coffey, silk umbrella.

Running high jump—1, D. Connor, 5 feet 1 inch, $5 in silver; 2, G. Hagan, pocketbook.

Hop, step and jump—1, G. Hagan, 40 feet [illegible] inches, barrel of flour; 2, M. Waldron, box of cigars.

Hitch and kick—1, M. Waldron, meerschaum pipe; 2, G. Hagan, box of cigars.

[illegible]—G. Hagan and Fred Hunt, tied and divided, box of J. G. Blaine cigars.

Bicycle race, [illegible]—1, J. F. Donovan, bicycle suit; 2, Bert Sayer, bicycle shoes; 3, E. Foy, drinking cup.

Two-mile—1, Bert Sayer, traveling bag; 2, E. Foy, [illegible]; 3, A. L. Cummings, bicycle [illegible].

One-mile—1, E. Foy, bicycle sweater; 2, Bert Sayer, bicycle lantern; 3, A. L. Cummings, [illegible].

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON'S FIRE.

An alarm was [illegible] from box [illegible] about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, not because the [illegible] was [illegible] down with [illegible] fervor, but because a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Heath court, where the small barn and cottage house of Mrs. Shea was ablaze. The fire started in the barn which was occupied by J. Samways, who [illegible] and [illegible] and made the barn [illegible]. There were a number of old barrels about the place, and they made the [illegible] before the department arrived the roof of the cottage was ablaze, and the barn, a box-like structure, was practically burned up. The heat was so intense as to keep the spectators at a distance and give the firemen room for work. The fire spread to several neighboring houses, but these small blazes were quickly mastered. The roof and upper tenement of the cottage are burned, and the house damaged by water. The barn and all Mr. Samways's stable furnishings are a total loss. The loss to Mrs. Shea will be about $300. The house was insured.

ST. GEORGE'S FAIR AND LAWN FETE.

The attendance yesterday at the St. George's fête was very gratifying despite the torrid heat of the abnormal warm wave. In the evening the coolness of the tent was remarked by all. Business also improved considerably, and the day's sales fully averaged those of Tuesday. One unique feature which is very popular and extensively patronized is the shooting gallery, under the management of Messrs. John Coggeshall and Charles Grant.

The Training Station orchestra will play from 8 to 11 o'clock again this evening, and there will be dancing in the Sunday school room, under the management of W. W. Gardner.

FOR THE BICYCLE PARADE AND RACES.

There was a meeting last evening in the rooms of the Powhattan Cycle Club to arrange for the bicycle races and parade originally set for Saturday, and postponed because of the Louisville meet. An organization was effected, the date fixed for Saturday, afternoon September 5, and various minor details were arranged. There were present members of the Powhattan Cycle Club and the Newport County Club, some of the local dealers and others. The parade and races were in excellent condition for next Saturday, and with the additional preparations for the new date the affair should be a big success. The races are said to be under the auspices of the Powhattan and Newport County clubs, but the latter has not officially sanctioned the use of its name, and probably will not, as it is not a racing club, and many of its members are opposed to road racing. It is, however, impossible to have races in this vicinity anywhere except on the roads.

RACES OF THE NEWPORT YACHT CLUB.

The Newport Yacht Club will have a club race Monday afternoon, for prizes offered by Colonel Reginald Norman. At the same time there will be a sweepstakes race for half-raters, which Messrs. H. O. Havemeyer, Jr., W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Howe and Murray of Jamestown, and perhaps others, are expected to enter. It is hoped to have a large entry list for the club race. There will, as usual, be four classes.

STRUCK BY A WIRE.

Robert Tuck and M. J. Shea, drivers for the Arctic Ice Company, complain that they were shocked by a drooping wire, while driving along Merton road, and Shea has a mark on his neck and others on his head, which he claims are burns by the electric wire. The illuminating company people say that the wire, which had become unfastened in some way, had no current in it, having been cut off from the main wire when the People's pavilion collapsed financially. The wire had no business in the street, however, and the illuminating company will probably have to pay damages.

NAVAL NOTES.

Assistant Engineers J. M. Hudgins and B. K. Morris have been ordered to study at London.

Commander W. H. Brownson of the navy has just returned from a visit to St. Petersburg, where he witnessed the coronation of the Czar of Russia. He is in Washington for a few days on waiting orders.

Lieutenant Commander C. P. Perkins has been detached from the Wabash and ordered to the Monadnock, and Lieutenant Commander E. D. Taussig has been detached from the Monadnock and ordered to the hydrographic office.

Acting Secretary McAdoo has remitted that portion of the court-martial sentence relating to one year's imprisonment at hard labor and loss of pay during that time which was imposed on Machinist Hagel, tried on charges of fraudulent enlistment at the New York navy yard. He approved the remainder of the sentence, dishonorably discharging him from the service of the United States. Hagel was a machinist on board ram Katahdin, who recently brought scandalous charges against officers of the ram, which were proven to be false.

Admiral Bunce had a conference with Secretary Herbert before the latter sailed for Europe. Battleship Massachusetts has been ordered to join the North Atlantic squadron, and Admiral Bunce expects to leave Hampton Roads Saturday with the New York, the Maine, the Indiana, the Massachusetts, the Columbia, the Cincinnati and the Newark. The Raleigh has finished coaling at New York, and as soon as her engines are ready Captain Miller intends to sail in order to join Admiral Bunce at the capes of the Chesapeake Saturday or Sunday.

Acting Secretary McAdoo has appointed a court of inquiry to investigate the dock accident at the New York navy yard. The court is composed of Captain Albert Kutz, president; Commander Edwin Longnecker and Civil Engineer George Mackay, members, and Lieutenant George Barnette, U. S. M. C., judge advocate. The court will convene at the New York navy yard tomorrow. The accident was not so serious as it was at first believed to be, but it was of such a character as to lead the authorities to determine upon a thorough investigation to fix the responsibility and enable the department to determine whether a court-martial will be necessary. The damage to the Ericsson is reported at $5,700, to the dry dock and caisson at $5,000, to the commandant's barge at $3,000 to $12,000, and to other ships in the vicinity at $500.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

EV'RY MONTH FOR AUGUST.

Here. 10 CENTS

Ev'ry Month for August includes between its pretty colored covers the usual variety of matter which it is its custom to present. There are its usual quota of music selections, including a song, "Where Go the Boats?" of which the words are Robert Louis Stevenson's, set to music by Augusta Preston Bedell; "Apollinaris," a schottische, by Monroe H. Rosenfeld; "Heart Longings," nocturne, by Edouard Holst, and "If You'll Be a Good Little Girl," song and chorus, by Charles Graham, all of which are good. The short stories contained are of high merit from a short-story standpoint, and the editorial reflections which are featured in this magazine are equally interesting, with the added charm of moral vigor. The number has a fine typographical appearance, owing to the number of illustrations, which include photographs of leading men and women, beautiful paintings and decorative designs.—[Newport Daily News, August 1, 1896.

COMMENT COPIOUS.

Bryan's Speech Entirely Satisfactory to His Republican Opponents.

CANTON, Ohio, August 14.—The comment on Bryan's New York speech here yesterday and today has been very copious. Major McKinley finished reading his opponent's oration at 9:30 o'clock this morning. He was too busy yesterday to go through it. When he came to the end and laid the paper down, Major McKinley looked up with a pleasant, contented smile, as much as to say: "If this is the strongest effort of our free silver friends, we need not despair of winning a victory for sound money."

The sedate Democrats of Canton are emphatic in the expressions of their disappointment with Bryan's Madison Square Garden speech, but on the other hand the noisy wing of the party commends it as a deep, potent and statesmanlike effort. The Republicans view the speech with smiling unconcern, and declare that it will make no votes in the East and that Mr. Bryan's arguments will be riddled by General Harrison and Bourke Cockran in New York next week, and by General Stewart L. Woodford at the opening meeting of the Ohio campaign in Columbus tomorrow. It is understood that General Woodford will devote his time to a discussion of Mr. Bryan's speech, and as he has a great reputation as a talker on finance his remarks will be awaited with interest by all parties.

MONEY EASY AT ST. LOUIS.

Banks Have Plenty of Funds for Legitimate Business.

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—The tightness of the money market elsewhere is not reflected in local banking circles, and St. Louis bankers have an ample supply of funds for the legitimate needs of their regular customers. A rumor gained circulation on change yesterday that banks were refusing all time loans. A number of banks were visited, and at all of them the situation was described in terms that showed no substantial variation. "We have plenty of money," said a banker, "for the legitimate business needs of our regular customers, but are not seeking outside paper, nor are we making loans to persons suspected of a purpose to use the money for speculative purposes." In confirmation of this it was learned that a well known speculator on change, whose paper is considered good, was refused a ninety days' loan, although he offered one per cent. per month for the accommodation.

SEWALL SATISFIED.

Thinks Bryan's Speech Will Bring the Ticket Many Votes.

NEW YORK, August 14.—There were very few callers this morning at the Democratic national headquarters at the Hotel Bartholdi. An important conference, in which Senator Jones, Governor Stone of Missouri and Senator Gorman took part, was held all the forenoon in Senator Jones's room at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. It was rumored this morning that Candidate Bryan will leave New York tomorrow, and will proceed to Irvington-on-the-Hudson as the guest of John Brisbane Walker at his country seat there.

Mr. Bryan will speak in Buffalo August 27, and at Erie, Penn., August 28. He will then go to Lincoln, Neb., to be formally notified by the silver party of his nomination. After that he will go south and make additional speeches. He will then visit the New England states, and spend some time with Mr. Sewall at Bath, Maine.

Mr. Sewall, when seen at the Fifth Avenue this morning, announced that he would leave for his home in Maine in a day or two. He said that he was very well satisfied with the way things were shaping themselves in the campaign. "I am convinced," said he, "that the speech made by Mr. Bryan was a powerful argument in favor of our cause, and will bring the ticket many votes."

Steamer St. Paul Cutting Down the Record.

NEW YORK, August 14.—American line steamer St. Paul has broken the westward record from Southampton. She was sighted crossing Sandy Hook bar at 9:55 A. M. She has beaten the record made recently by the St. Louis by nearly an hour.

The St. Paul passed in at Sandy Hook at 9:46. Allowing her forty minutes from the lightship, she has beaten the record by about an hour and a half, and her time is about six days and one hour.

American Protestant Association.

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—The convention of the American Protestant Association finished its work yesterday. The committee on ritual reported favorably on the one degree initiation, but the matter was laid over until next year. The annual meeting next year will be held in Trenton, N. J. The grand treasurer's report showed the association to be in a solid financial condition. A committee of three was appointed to establish and take charge of a beneficiary fund. It was agreed that the death rate benefit should be between $250 and $500.

CHICAGO, August 14.—Paul Johnson of Newton, Ill., was formally notified here last night of his nomination by the Prohibitionist convention at Pittsburg for the office of Vice President of the United States. In accepting the nomination Mr. Johnson scathingly arraigned the old parties on the charge of responsibility for continuance of the liquor traffic, its growth and its power in politics, and for deceiving the people by promising good times with each new national administration and not fulfilling such promises.

Disastrous Floods in India.

LONDON, August 14.—A despatch from Bombay to a news agency says that terrible floods have occurred through the overflowing of the river Kisna. The damage to property is immense, and thousands of persons have been rendered homeless, their houses having been swept away. Two hundred persons were drowned by the sinking of a boat at Tatara. The overflowing water from the river has washed out a breach seven miles long in the Nizam of Hyderabad railway.

Water in the Boiler was Too Low.

NAVASOTA, Texas, August 14.—An explosion occurred at the Summerford saw mill near here, yesterday, killing William Henry, Ben Johnson and James Winters, and injuring four others, M. H. Henry, Nel Henry and Ed ward Johnson fatally. The explosion was caused by the water in the boiler getting too low.

This Morning's News.

BRYAN'S SPEECH.

Republican Leaders Think It Will Help Their Cause.

WASHINGTON, August 14.—Chairman Babcock of the Republican Congressional campaign committee had not had time to read Mr. Bryan's Madison Square speech, but said: "Mr. Bryan's talk is making Republican votes, and I hope he will keep it up. The more he talks the better for us."

Representative Mercer, secretary of the Republican Congressional committee, said that he had read Bryan's speech through, and that he regarded it as a document the circulation of which would do the Republican cause good. "As a speech," he said, "it is well constructed, but as a campaign document it will, in my judgment, do Mr. Bryan and the cause of silver no good. It is apologetic all the way through. He tries to explain that the Chicago platform is not so bad as it appears. He assumes a defensive position all the way through. He ignores the two things that have made him—free trade and the Populists. He does not seem to remember the fact that he is the Populist nominee. But a short time ago he was preaching that the salvation of the country lay in free trade. Now he ignores the tariff question altogether. He did not refer to the tariff in the speech. The more copies of that speech there are circulated the better we shall like it."

"I have all along," said Mr. Mercer, "hoped that Mr. McKinley would go on the stump. On the Pacific coast the great and vital question is the tariff. So far as the money question is concerned, we have the best of that argument, as it will readily see if they take pains to inform themselves. I should like to see Mr. McKinley make a tour, beginning in California, working up the Pacific coast, then coming East, giving about six weeks at the end of the campaign to that work. Mr. McKinley has a splendid presence and commands the strictest attention of the greatest audience. His speeches would be very effective.

"The demonstration over Mr. Bryan in New York is of no consequence politically," continued Mr. Mercer. "The same thing was experienced with Greeley as the prominent figure, and I could name half a dozen like instances where these wild demonstrations have been followed by crushing defeat at the polls. The fact is, the American people are a curious people and fond of new things. They rush to see a man out of curiosity, and a crowd draws a crowd. Then the free silver idea strikes the public as the latest thing out, and they rush to take up with it or to examine it, as they would welcome some new invention. When they look into its real meaning, they turn from it and discard it. While on the surface it may prove attractive to some people, a little examination shows its true nature. Why, my mail each morning is filled with encouraging reports that show this to be the case. Here is a letter telling me of a meeting of Hungarians out in Nebraska, when the meeting was addressed by one of their number, reminding them of the trouble that followed the inflation in Hungary, and warning them not to vote for a repetition of such trouble in this country."

Ex-Representative Langston of Virginia said of the speech: "I think Mr. Bryan did as well as he could from his point of view, but that speech is not going to convert anybody. The trouble about Bryan, as shown by this speech and all others he has delivered in this campaign, is that he is a moral tramp. You know what I mean. He runs with the tramp element. He argues from their point of view, and seeks to represent and to lead them."

NANSEN'S RETURN.

He Went Four Degrees Farther North than Other Explorers.

CHRISTIANIA, August 14.—Dr. Nansen is returning from his attempt to reach the North Pole by drifting to it in a steamer. He has arrived at Vardoe, an island of Norway in the Arctic ocean, off Finmark. He is accompanied by Lieutenant Hansen. They left steamer Fram, in which Dr. Nansen expected to be carried to the Pole, in March, 1895, in Lat. 84, Lon. 30.27, to explore north of the Franz Josef route. They journeyed through an unknown polar sea, and explored north of Franz Josef land to Lat. 86.14. No land was seen to the north of latitude 82, only ice.

They wintered on Franz Josef land, living on whale meat and bear meat. Here they met F. G. Jackson of the Whitard expedition, which brought them to Vardoe. The Fram was reported to be a good ice ship, and will arrive later this year. There was no sickness on board.

Although the expedition failed to reach the object of its search, it went four degrees farther north than did any previous expedition.

CONFUSION WORSE CONFOUNDED.

Democratic Managers in a Constant Wrangle.

NEW YORK, August 14.—Confusion worse confounded reigned yesterday in the councils of the managers of William J. Bryan. There was serious strife over the formation of the campaign committee of nine, the executive committee of twenty-five, and the finance committee of twenty-nine. The campaign committee is the most perplexing puzzle. There are bound to be discordant elements in it, and just how to get a team that will not pull in opposite directions is the problem.

The leaders in the free-silver crusade all want to be recognized. This is especially true of Altgeld and Tillman. They both want to be on the committee, and they both would like it if Senator Gorman could be left off. Tillman is daily doing the cause great harm by attacking Gorman. Senator Gorman and Colonel Smalley are the only national campaigners of experience who are working with the committee, and both are making personal sacrifices by consenting to serve. Yet Tillman is reviling both these men, and seeking to drive them out of the party. It developed last night that Senator Gorman had consented to serve on the campaign committee with Senator Tillman, and that both Tillman and Altgeld would probably be members. The other members of the committee will be chosen from Ohio, Michigan, Missouri, New England, and, possibly, North Carolina.

The best vote cast of the committee to be obtained last night was: Chairman, James K. Jones, Arkansas; Arthur P. Gorman, Maryland; John P. Altgeld, Illinois; David J. Campau, Michigan; John R. Mellen, Ohio; William J. Stone, Missouri; Alexander Troup, Connecticut; Benjamin R. Tillman, South Carolina; Marion Butler, North Carolina. This leaves one place to be filled. The appointment of Senator Butler would be a sop to the Pops.

There is still opposition to the retention of William F. St. John as treasurer. Many members think Mr. St. John has been doing the cause more harm than good, and the members of the notification committee still want him to resign.

The row over the location of headquarters waged all day. Chicago wanted everything, and Mr. Bryan supported Chicago, but Chicago will probably get a bureau, and the chief headquarters will be ostensibly in Washington, but in reality in New York.

A NEW FLOORING MATERIAL.

Papyrolith, the invention of Otto Kraner of Chemnitz, is a novelty in flooring material, being a special preparation of paper pulp which is sold as a dry powder. When mixed with water, it may be spread like mortar over stone, cement or wood, where it dries quickly, and may be smoothly plated. It may be tinted almost any color, adapting it for parquetry with variegated borders, or for panels and mosaics. Among the advantages claimed are freedom from crevices, deadening of noise and poor conduction of heat, considerable elasticity, safety from fire, and remarkable durability. It may be used for wainscoting and other architectural purposes, as well as for flooring. A still more curious use for paper is announced in the form of a bathing towel, which consists of a full suit of blotting paper into which the bather steps from the water. It dries the entire body in a second.

THE PRESIDENT'S PRIVATE LIFE.

The following is a fair idea of the many incidentals that come free to a President: Every bit of linen, bedding, towels, and such things is furnished. He is shaved by the White House barber. His table is spread with the finest, daintiest damask, set with the most exquisite china, and bountifully supplied with flowers from the White House conservatories. If he sends a telegram, it is done from an instrument in the White House, for which the government pays. His stationery, postage, etc., cost him nothing. Should he desire a game of billiards, there is a beautiful table at hand; or if he wants to take a drive, his stables, which the government pays the rent for and takes care of, are amply equipped. When he enters his business office, a man is stationed at the door to open and close it; and a private secretary, to whom the government pays a salary of $5,000 a year, assists him with his correspondence. The services of a type-writer are also furnished. He is protected from the curious by a number of private watchmen. Should he want a cruise, a magnificent ship from the navy is placed at his disposal.

There are many other things that cost him nothing, such as the culinary arrangements, his steward, who does the marketing, and the many fancy delicacies sent him by enterprising firms. This, by-the-way, is a sort of nuisance, for it seems to be the desire of every manufacturer of some new eatable or drinkable to get it into the White House. Things of value that find their way there are never accepted.—[Harper's Round Table.

ALTGELD'S GOLD LEASES.

Governor Altgeld's attempt to explain his gold leases, wherein it is stipulated that his rentals shall be paid in gold, falls to explain. His private secretary says that the form is the same as is used in all leases in Chicago, and that Governor Altgeld knew nothing personally about the way they read, whereas the facts are that Governor Altgeld's leases were printed especially for him on a form drawn up by himself, and each lease is signed by Altgeld. The Chicago Chronicle, which brings out these facts, pointedly remarks that Governor Altgeld, while denouncing corporations, is the president of a corporation. Denouncing classes, he belongs to the landlord class. A professed silverite, he exacts gold leases from his tenants. Protesting a philanthropic regard for debtors, his leases have the most tyrannous covenants by which debtors for rent may be evicted, harassed and distressed.—[Boston Herald.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

On the day on which the Commercial Club of Newport had its field day at Southwick, Grove, a number of its patrons on, returning to Newport, stopped at the hennery on the farm of Mr. Anthony Stewart, and after securing a number of chickens, went to the farm house and had them dressed and broiled, and in spite of a good clambake, which had been served in ample style within a short while, they did ample justice to the broiled chickens also.

THE OLD-TIME TEA PARTY.

In this age of elaborate receptions, and consequent late hours, and with next morning nervous headaches, it is pleasant and equally refreshing to revert in memory to the social entertainments of former years.

When a party was decided upon, tiny notes, on gilt edged paper, and with the daintiest chirography, were dispatched to invited guests, which were usually, with great promptness, politely accepted or regretfully declined. The morning preceding the anticipated affair was busily occupied by the ladies of the household in preparing various little delicacies, as blanc mange, whipped cream, orange jelly, etc. Sometimes the entire furniture from the guest chamber was removed, and tables placed lengthways and crossways through its entire limits.

The friends usually assembled about 7 o'clock, and by 8 the social tea was fairly broken, and the old and young were alike mingling heartily in various games. In the course of the evening a piece of music, called "The Battle of Prague," was executed on the spinnet or harpsichord, and occasionally the prodigy of the family was introduced, who would electrify the visitors with his original if not faultless rendition of Scott's "Lochinvar" or Campbell's "Exile of Erin." It was, however, when the dear old Scotch song, "Bonnie Dooa," was warbled by some fair debutante that excitement reached its climax and complimentary expressions, and applause from kid-covered hands, were heard throughout the little parlor.

On ascending to the supper room, "Young Hyson" or "Old Java" were distributed to the company, while very small sandwiches, with very large hospitality, were proffered, and then delightful toasts, and after refreshments speeches, usually ending with the gallant sentiment, "The Gentle Influences of Woman," were applauded to the echo.

At 12 o'clock these social gatherings were brought to a close by the entire assemblage joining in the Virginia Reel, and as the guests separated a strain or two of "Home, Sweet Home," was sung, and resounded till the refrain had been lost in the distance. N.

PERSONALS.

....Clarence Holt, the veteran English actor, is about to publish his reminiscences.

....Alexander Salvini, the well known actor, is seriously ill in Italy, and his physician says he cannot come to America before November.

....Sir John Millais, the distinguished painter, president of the Royal Academy, died at a late hour yesterday afternoon at his home in London. May 10 he underwent the operation of tracheotomy for the relief of cancer of the throat, and never fully rallied from its effects, which ultimately caused his death.

....M. de Brouard, who made a wager that he would travel around the world, starting from Paris, in ten months, without sixpence in his pocket, has safely reached Saratow, in South Russia. He will pass through Persia to Merv, Samarcand and Siberia, whence he hopes to work a passage to Japan and the United States.

....A. M. Palmer, Jr., a young son of the New York theatrical manager, is at San Francisco, having made a trip around the Horn in a sailing vessel on which he acts as purser. He was 114 days on the trip, which he enjoyed immensely. He is sailing in search of improved health, has been much benefited and will return with the ship to New York.

....The University of Texas invited Professor Winston out to Austin in June to deliver an address at Commencement. The impression he made, together with his reputation in building up the University of North Carolina, caused the regents to tender him the presidency of their university. He accepted it and has been duly elected. He is now in the North, looking up professors.

....M. Casimir-Perier, ex-President of France, presided recently at a dinner given by the municipality of Marnay. This was his first public appearance since his resignation. In reply to the compliments of the mayor he thanked him for offering "faithful and disinterested sympathy to a man who had retired from public life." "How," he said, "should I regret honors or power when I am freed from fawners and still have friends?"

AT THE CASINO THEATRE.

Pleasing Performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's Opera of "The Mikado."

The opera of "The Mikado" was presented at the Casino Theatre last evening by Mr. Fredericks's company in a manner which pleased the audience present and was worthy of a much larger attendance. With two exceptions the principals of the company were the same who produced the opera last winter, the parts of the Mikado and Nanki Poo being taken by Mr. J. C. Fay and Mr. Charles O. Bassett respectively. The other characters were assumed by well known local vocalists, who without exception were better even than in the former performance. The choruses were well drilled and added much to the success of the production, and the stage setting was pretty and artistic, appropriate to the character of the opera.

Mr. J. C. Fay, as the Mikado, showed his ability as an actor as well as a singer of much merit, and his song, "I am a Most Humane Mikado," was repeated twice to satisfy the demands of the audience. Mr. Bassett, who sang the part of Nanki Poo, has a clear, strong, tenor voice, which was admirably handled, especially in the songs "A Wandering Minstrel I" and "This is What I Never Do." Miss Curley, as Yum Yum, showed an improvement even over her performance of last winter, her voice showing the effect of her continued training. She was charming in her naivete, and her sweet, mellow voice was heard to excellent advantage. As usual the solo, "The Moon and I," at the opening of the second act, was a most pleasing number. Miss Hayes, as Pitti Sing, and Miss Callahan, as Peep Bo, were also excellent, and in her solo work and in the duets and quartets Miss Hayes's voice blended in fine harmony with the others. Mr. Fredericks gave a carefully conceived and well acted characterization of Pooh Bah, and Mr. Swan was equally happy in his conception of Pish Tush. Both were in fine voice, and their vocal numbers were capitally executed. The madrigal, in which Messrs. Fredericks and Swan and the Misses Curley and Hayes participated, was as usual one of the gems of the evening, to many the best of the vocal numbers, and the four voices came out true and full in the several parts.

Mr. J. J. Butler, as Ko Ko, the lord high executioner, created, as in the former production, the most humorous part of the performance. His conception is open to the criticism that he makes it too boisterous, but the acting was consistent throughout and was generally well received by the audience. He is certainly very clever, and makes the part one of the most prominent in the cast. His song, "Tit Willow," was sung with much feeling. Miss Martland's Katisha was a surprisingly good performance, artistic and forcible, and her rich contralto voice was heard to excellent advantage in the solo and duet work.

Both the male and female choruses were full and in harmony, and the stage movements exceedingly well executed for amateurs; in fact, the whole performance bore little of the stamp of amateurism, and left a very pleasing impression.

Owing to the lack of patronage, it has been decided not to have a matinee performance this afternoon.

MODERN FASHIONS.

CHILD'S NIGHT DRAWERS FOR SUMMER WEAR.

For mid-season wear, when flannel is discarded, outing flannel is used by many for this sensible garment. Heavy cotton or drill are the most sensible of the white goods, but for little tots of two years fibbler muslin is used. Canton flannel is much liked, and a good quality wears indefinitely, but many mothers clothe children in flannel night robes the year round. If mothers would insure themselves against sewing buttons on continually, they should use the bone buttons provided with two slits, that are put on by means of a stout tape.

A GOOD BICYCLE LAMP.

Now that the evenings are growing shorter the demand for bicycle lamps will increase. One that is claimed to be the best is the new improved Globe vapor lamp. It is said to give a brilliant white light, will stand the hardest knocks, and laughs at the wind and weather. It is light, beautiful in shape and extremely simple.

The manner of attachment is unique, no bracket being required, the lamp fastening directly to head tubing or forks quickly and securely. It is well made, finely nickel plated and is claimed to be as much better than the old style lamps that flood the market as daylight is over darkness. It possesses one feature which every one will appreciate—absolute cleanliness.

It is made by Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., Chicago, who control the output of the factory.

"Canst thou minister to a mind diseased?" asks Macbeth. Certainly, my lord; the condition of the mind depends largely, if not solely, on the condition of the stomach, liver and bowels, for all of which complaints Ayer's Pills are "the sovereignest thing on earth."

THE PRIDE OF THE COUNTRY SIDE.

Oh! Phyllis is surpassing fair,
I know no maid that's fairer;
Her beauty is beyond compare—
No beauty could be rarer;
She scorneth fickle fashion's guide,
And russet is her gowne—
Yet she's the pride of the country side,
And the envy of the town!

She is a queen we all declare,
Though no crown she possesses,
Beyond a wealth of rich brown hair,
That hangs in dainty tresses;
Her matchless eyes have long out-rid
The gems in monarch's crown—
And she's the pride of the country side
And the envy of the town!

Her form is full of fairy grace,
Her voice is music mellow,
And, oh! the bloom upon her face
Is the red rose's fellow;
Ah! he who wins her for his bride
Wins more than wealth, renown—
For she's the pride of the country side
And the envy of the town!

—[F. J. Cox, in Chambers's Journal.

RHODE ISLAND STATE FAIR FIGURES.

From the authorized publications of the Rhode Island State Fair are learned some facts of a statistical nature that afford an accurate measure of the magnitude of the great exposition. The fair grounds cover an area of 67½ acres. There are 63 exhibition buildings, mostly under continuous roofing, which occupy five acres. Connected with the fair association are 220 employes and 350 attaches. The annual expenditure in awards, premiums and construction work ranges from $65,000 to $85,000, and the highest recorded attendance (in 1895) was 125,000 in six days, and the largest attendance for a single day was 40,000 September 19 (Governor's Day) in the same year. The grand stand, with its annexes and extensions, measures 732 feet, or more than one eighth of a mile, and represents a total cost exceeding $75,000.

THE SINGLE TAX IN DELAWARE.

The little and sparsely settled state of Delaware has no provision in its constitution that would stand in the way of the single tax scheme should the legislature pass an act looking to the change. It was found to be, therefore, the easiest state in the Union to be worked by tax reformers in favor of the experiment. And so, by a concert of action, Henry George and his associates entered upon a campaign of education in favor of this new scheme and have been hard at work upon it for many months, and the controversy is still on.

And now the strange story is sent out that the Delaware authorities, especially at Dover, the state capital, are persecuting the agitators, and even putting them in prison, because of the theories advanced and urged upon the people. Says one authority: "The single-tax campaign in Delaware is developing martyrs. Of the eighty prisoners in the Dover jail, seventeen are there because of their advocacy of the principles of Henry George in the public streets of the city. These men are said to be eminently respectable, and include among their number an importer, a manufacturer, a physician, a minister who went from Minnesota to Delaware for the express purpose of taking part in the campaign, a merchant, an editor and a farmer. Some are men of wealth."

The men who are thus suffering martyrdom, when the facts are fully understood, will be entitled to but a cheap crown, which at best should be made of pasteboard and bedecked with red paint. The facts are entirely different from what is represented. Dover is a small city, and has a pleasant and commodious park near its centre. By a city ordinance public meetings may be held in this park, at which addresses may be made on any proper subject. At the same time the ordinance prohibits public meetings in the streets, on the ground that these should be kept open for the use of the people. Says the writer already quoted: "The single-taxers insist on delivering speeches in the streets, for which they are arrested and given the alternative of paying a fine of $10 or going to jail for thirty days. In defense of 'the right of free speech' they refused to pay the fine, contending that they had violated no ordinance. Consequently they were lodged in jail. The authorities grant the single-taxers the right to speak in the park, but object to their speaking in the streets, charging that the crowds block the thoroughfares." Surely there are no martyr's honors to be won in a controversy of this nature. The ordinance is much the same as in other cities, and we doubt not would be as resolutely enforced in Rhode Island, and even in Newport, as in Delaware. Most of those involved are strangers, and their refusal to obey the laws shows that they are also cranks. The feeling between them and the authorities runs high, and it may be of interest to know what the citizens of Dover think of the invaders who seek to conquer the state capital, even as Coxey hoped to obtain control of Washington. At a meeting called in the interest of the single taxers, which fell into the hands of the enemy, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The streets of this town have for some time been blocked by a set of irresponsible and depraved people of other states, in defiance of the charter and ordinances of this town, which have been in existence for twenty years; and

Whereas, The officials of the town have, by resolution of council, given these people the right to speak in the public square of the town on all occasions; and

Whereas, These people, in defiance of law and in utter disregard of all law, have set up for themselves the higher law doctrine and proclaimed that they will not be bound by town authority or the laws of the state; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the citizens of the town, in mass meeting assembled, That we will use every endeavor to sustain our town officials in upholding the charter of the town and the ordinances thereof, at the present and at all future times, against law breakers, whether from within or without the state.

Resolved, further, That we denounce as enemies to good government any and all persons who encourage or countenance the disturbing of the peace of this town by the nightly assemblages of worthless vagabonds from other states, assisted by irresponsible people in this state.

Resolved, further, That there be a committee of three attorneys at law appointed by the chairman of this meeting, whose duty shall be to report to the aldermen of the town whether there is sufficient authority under our laws for putting these pests of society at work in chain gangs in our streets whenever found guilty of violating the laws and ordinances of the town.

BRYAN IN NEW YORK.

The great meeting in New York, which it was supposed would fire the public heart through the eloquence of Mr. Bryan, appears to have entirely failed of its purpose. As we predicted in advance, the guardian care of the managers of the campaign who had the revision if not the moulding of Mr. Bryan's speech, left little or no room for such eloquent outbursts as that at Chicago which secured for him the nomination. Some one has justly said that the people went to Madison Square Garden to hear a speech and not to listen to the reading of an essay, and so were disappointed. Long before the address was over the people began to leave, and at its close only those impelled by a sense of duty to the candidate and the party were in their places.

Poor Mr. Sewall secured no hearing at all. His notification was read to him in a tone scarcely to be heard across the platform, and the noise and confusion were so great in the rush for the streets that nobody gave his words a hearing. And so the meeting, which had opened with great expectations on the part of the multitude, fell apart and perished of its own weight. It was burdened with too much machine management. Left to himself, Mr. Bryan might have done better—certainly he could not have done worse.

It goes without saying that the address was altogether too long as well as too didactic. It proceeded to discuss, even to details, some of the most commonplace questions before the people, upon the apparent assumption that the arguments were new as well as vitally important. If the western managers thought such a discussion necessary in such a place and at such a time, they must have failed to have read the Eastern newspapers or have become oblivious to current events. The arguments as set forth may be all right as a campaign doctrine, or worthy of a careful reading by both sides, but it was not the right thing in the right place. The New York audience gathered to hear the "boy orator of the Platte," whose flaming eloquence had stampeded the Chicago convention, and was expected to arouse a whirlwind of enthusiasm in New York. Disappointed in that, they lost all interest in the proceedings. Taken all in all, the meeting was a failure so far as anticipated results are concerned.

A SAD CASE.

The striking tailors in New York are making but slight progress, if any at all. The strikers are in no condition to remain long out of work, and their employers know it. The contest thus becomes one-sided, but it is greatly to the discredit of the more fortunate class that they are resolved to push the weaker party to the wall, regardless of the claims of justice and of a common humanity.

The striking garment workers have long been kept at the very doors of starvation. They are for the most part illiterate as well as poor. A great proportion of the whole are women and children, for under the sweat-shop system or its equivalents every member of the family must work early and late in order to keep soul and body together.

The demands of the strikers are very small and altogether reasonable, unless we propose in this country to establish a pauper class; or, perhaps more properly speaking, to perpetuate a pauper class, since most of these workers are foreigners. And of all things this is the most contrary to the spirit of American institutions and the genius of our people. Having admitted these foreigners and made many of them citizens and voters, we must proceed to elevate them above the level which they occupied in the Old World or bring our institutions and professions into contempt.

Candidate Watson, who figures as one of the tails to the Populist ticket, appears to have been wholly overlooked at the Madison Square Garden reception. It is understood that among the invitations sent out he alone of the shining lights was not included. And yet if Tom Watson and his especial friends were to be so affronted as to refuse to support the nomination it would be all up with Mr. Bryan. The Democrats alone could not hope to carry the election this year, even if they were united, and now that they are split in twain and are to have two candidates, the Populists are their only hope. Unless they tread more softly on Tom Watson's corns he may take offense, and cause his name to be removed from the ticket.

The New York Times has been purchased by a syndicate for $75,000, including its good will, copyrights, printing materials and all other assets. The syndicate was represented by Spencer Trask, a New York broker. It is announced that the paper will continue with practically the same editorial management. It is to be hoped so, for the Times is one of the ablest and best of the great dailies of the metropolitan city.

There was a great crowd at the Madison Square Garden meeting. It was a Democratic gathering, but where, oh, where, were such Democrats as ex Governors Flower and Hill, ex-Secretaries Whitney and Fairchild, ex-Congressmen Belmont and Cockran, ex-Mayors Grace and Hewitt and a host of other old-time party leaders whom all true Democrats delight to honor?

Terrible stories are now told of Japanese cruelties in Formosa, but they need to be confirmed before being fully accepted. It is known that the Formosans bitterly oppose Japanese supremacy and have been fighting hard against it ever since their island was incorporated with the Mikado's dominions.

It is evident that if it were not for a continued dread of the negro vote in state elections, there would be a decided shifting of political lines in the South this year. The parties are badly split up in that section as in the North, but the fear of the negro vote drives all the factions to cover.

Hon. David S. Baker is prominently named as a suitable successor to the late Judge Carpenter. He has always stood high in the Democratic party; is well qualified for the position, and his appointment would be eminently satisfactory to the people of Rhode Island.

The Irish land bill is likely to become a law, the differences between the House of Lords and the Commons having been practically settled through mutual concessions. Of course the bill will satisfy neither party, but as a means to an end may prove of service.

Lowell is rejoicing in a tax rate of $15, the lowest in seventeen years, says an exchange. But Newport is groaning over a tax rate of $10.50, which is as high as has been known here for the same number of years.

It is said that Mrs. Bryan will attend to the business end of her husband's campaign. That is bad for her, for the end thereof is sure to be a collapse from which recovery is impossible.

Candidate Tom Watson threatens to take the stump in Maine. If he would take all the stumps in the Pine Tree street and plant them in Georgia, the down-Easters would be happy.

The Westerly Daily Sun shows up well since its enlargement, and is a credit to Rhode Island journalism.

There was a big strike of table waiters at the restaurants in Boston yesterday.

There are said to be two hundred cases of malaria on what is known as Smith's Hill in Providence. Somebody is to blame for that, as the locality rightly treated should be as healthy as any in New England.

Candidate Bryan made a moving speech in New York.

The blessed rain came at last.

NO MORE TIGHT GLOVES.

The last article of wear dear to the feminine heart that the health advocates have set the seal of their displeasure on is the tight-fitting glove. This will be distressing news to many women who would willingly deprive themselves of expensive lingerie in order to wear gloves that make more outward show. Women pride themselves on exhibiting a neatly gloved hand almost as much as encasing their feet in shoes which are ruinous to the natural shape of the feet. In doing this they are perhaps unaware that women of the stage who pride themselves on the appearance of their hands when ungloved, as well as when incased in costly gloves, do not approve of pinching them with tight gloves. Bernhardt and Terry, who are famous for the beauty of their hands and arms, wear long, loose-wristed gloves. Miss Terry has a large hand, but it is in proportion to her figure, and she does not squeeze either into tight compresses.

Next to wearing tight shoes and tight corsets, the habit of squeezing the hands into tight gloves is perhaps the most foolish of feminine weaknesses. And yet interviews with prominent glove dealers all prove that about two thirds of their customers will insist upon purchasing gloves from one half to one full size too small for their hands, and resent any remarks that the clerks may make that would suggest the abandonment of this hobby. "Why, we are even forced to suggest smaller sizes, and make delicate remarks about their tiny hands, in order oftentimes to secure their favors," one prominent dealer stated, smilingly.

The wearers of tight gloves are not always ignorant people, by any means, but they are invariably of a vain and shallow type who have no regard for artistic beauty and are martyrs when it comes to physical suffering. For there is certainly nothing much more uncomfortable in the way of dress than tight squeezing, ill-fitting gloves, with buttons straining to their utmost tension and with the palm fairly bulging out in a mass of almost purple flesh, which has been forced into this unnatural position.

"Women with very long fingers nearly always buy short-fingered gloves," another glove seller stated, "and then when the sharp, pointed nails have cut through the ends of the fingers, they bring them back with all manner of complaints, and there is absolutely nothing to be said if we wish to retain their custom. A very fine quality of kid is always more flexible than a cheap quality, consequently a lady who wears a number 6 in a $1 glove can frequently wear a five and three quarters in a $2.50 quality, just as one can wear two or more sizes of shoes in different makes and have each fit satisfactorily. It is mostly large, fleshy women who persist in wearing tight gloves. They have had small hands originally, before they gained their superabundance of adipose, and because they wore number six gloves at eighteen, they insist upon wearing them at forty; and although the terrible pressure on the flesh and blood vessels makes the hands clumsy and benumbed, they will not relinquish this bit of feminine vanity."

It is a well known fact that women who possess the whitest and most beautiful hands always wear loose gloves. To keep the skin soft and pliable, the blood must have perfectly free circulation, and this cannot be when the wrist is encircled with a merciless band of kid and when thumb and fingers are cramped into unnatural positions.—[Washington Star.

BOSTON, August 14, 8 A. M.—For Boston and vicinity—Generally fair tonight: fair Saturday; easterly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

No well defined storm appears within the field of observation this morning, the barometers registering in general at or above the normal readings. Nevertheless, a small area of unsettled weather prevails in the upper Mississippi valley, and last night there were rains in parts of the following-named districts: The New England states, the middle Atlantic coast section, the east Gulf states, the lower lake region and the Missouri valley. In several instances the rain occurred with thunder and lightning, but in quantity the precipitation was moderate, except at Pittsburg and Washington, where thunder storms gave 2.20 and 1.90 inches respectively. Cool temperatures, ranging at the morning observation hour between 50 and 70 degrees, are the feature over the northern half of the country, and in the southern states the range is confined mostly between 75 and 85 degrees. New England skies are clouded; rain is falling in southern Maine, and the winds are from north to east.

OLNEY'S REPLY.

Probably the Most Important Document in the Arbitration Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, August 14.—The despatch of Secretary Olney to Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambassador, referred to in the House of Commons debate today, was considered by many the most important document in the arbitration correspondence between this country and Great Britain. The despatch was devoted to a discussion of proposals submitted by Lord Salisbury for the settlement of the Venezuelan boundary dispute—that a commission of four persons be appointed by the two governments to ascertain certain facts, and upon the basis of those facts draw a boundary line, "which, however, is in no case to encroach upon the bona fide settlements of either party." Secretary Olney pointed out the improbability of such a commission defining anything definite by which the respective governments should be bound, and further the difficulty of reconciling the claims regarding "bona fide" settlements.

The despatch concludes with these counter-proposals, which Mr. Balfour said today "were regarded by the foreign office as opening the way for an equitable settlement of the difficulty." In the opinion of this government, the proposals of Lord Salisbury's despatch can be made to meet the requirements and the justice of the case only if amended in various particulars. The commission upon facts should be so constituted, by adding one or more members, that it must reach a result, and cannot become abortive and possibly mischievous. That commission should have power to report upon all the facts necessary to the decision of the boundary controversy, including the facts pertaining to the occupation of the disputed territory by British subjects. The proviso by which the boundary line, as drawn by the tribunal of three, is not to include the territory bona fide occupied by British subjects or Venezuelan citizens on the first of January, 1887, should be stricken out altogether, or there might be substituted for it the following:

"Provided, however, that in fixing such a line, if territory of one party be found in the occupation of the subjects or citizens of the other party, such weight and effect shall be to such occupation as reason, justice, the rules of international law and the equities of the particular case may appear to require.

State Department officials are highly gratified with the tone of Mr. Balfour's reply to Sir William Harcourt's query about the effect on the government of the above despatch, and while in the absence of Secretary Olney, who has been exclusively in charge of the negotiations, nothing definite can be learned of the succeeding correspondence, if any, that has passed, confidence is expressed that an agreement will be reached before next December for an exhaustive arbitration of the Venezuelan-Guianian boundary controversy.

Under the same date Secretary Olney transmitted to Sir Julian Pauncefote the following despatch, communicating the determination of this government not to permit the Venezuelan question to complicate the scheme for a general arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain, which is under consideration concurrently with the other subject:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., June 12, 1896. I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt from you of a copy of Lord Salisbury's despatch to you of the eighteenth ult., relating to a proposed general treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. The contents have received the careful consideration of this government, and I shall take the earliest practicable opportunity to submit some observations upon the propositions the despatch sets forth and discusses. Meanwhile, however, I deem it advisable to re-call attention to the fact that, so far as the Venezuelan boundary dispute is concerned, the position of this government has been plainly defined, not only by the executive but by the unanimous concurring action of both branches of Congress. A genuine arbitration, issuing in an award and finally disposing of the controversy, whether under a special or a general treaty of arbitration, would be entirely consistent with that position, and would be cordially welcomed by this government. On the other hand, while a treaty of general arbitration, providing for a tentative decision merely upon territorial claims, though not all that this government deems desirable or feasible, might nevertheless be accepted by it as a step in the right direction, it would not, under the circumstances, feel at liberty to include the Venezuelan boundary dispute within the scope of such a treaty. It is deemed advisable to be thus explicit in the interest of both governments, that the pending negotiations for a general treaty of arbitration may proceed without any misapprehension.

CONVENTION POSTPONED.

Democrats Will Name Presidential Electors in September.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, August 14.—The Democratic state convention for the nomination of Presidential electors will not be held August 20, as originally determined, but September 9 instead. The change is made because it is deemed inadvisable to hold the convention during the hot weather of the summer, and because the Newport Democrats were especially anxious that the caucuses should not be held during the height of the season.

General Hunter C. White, Newton D. Arnold and Joseph O. Earle, thirty-third-degree Masons, went to New York today, to meet the remains of the late Judge George M. Carpenter, who was a prominent Mason. The body is expected to reach New York tomorrow and to be brought to Providence Sunday.

Lease and Lewellyling Family War Declared Off.

WICHITA, Kansas, August 14.—Mrs. Lease commissioned her son to go to the Populist county convention yesterday, and officially declare that the political war heretofore existing between the Lease and Lewellyling families had been declared off. Young Lease seconded the nomination of ex-Governor Lewellyling for state senator and the convention went wild in its demonstrations of joy.

Assignment of New York Merchants.

NEW YORK, August 14.—J. Acevedo & Co., exporters and commission merchants at 96 and 98 Maiden Lane, assigned today. The firm was formed last October, with a claimed capital of $50,000.

Severe Storms in the Mexican Mountains.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, August 14.—Advices have reached here of terrific storms in the mountains west of this city. Buildings on several ranches were destroyed, and at the Sorelos ranch five persons were killed.

NO POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE.

Two Cabinet Officers Call Upon President Cleveland.

BUZZARD'S BAY, August 14.—The President had two of his cabinet officers at "Gray Gables" this morning. Secretary Carlisle came over from Marion on steamer Mistletoe, in a pouring rain storm. Mrs. Carlisle and William Carlisle and family accompanied him. An early train brought Secretary of War Lamont and Dr. Bryan. Secretary Olney, however, is not present, and is not expected today. Dr. Bryan will make an extended visit at "Gray Gables." Secretary Lamont will remain but a short time, and will join his family at Long Branch.

That two of the cabinet should arrive at "Gray Gables" at the same time gave rise to the supposition that the President had summoned them here, but inquiry fails to confirm this. Secretary Carlisle's family simply called to pay their respects, and Secretary Lamont was expected for a few days' visit. There have been no matters discussed in private between the President and his cabinet officers. All the visitors, including the ladies, held informal conversation on the verandas. Secretary Carlisle will return to Marion as soon as it ceases raining.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The entries for the Newport horse show will close tonight, but for the convenience of exhibitors who may not be able to make them until late the office will be kept open until 6.30. Entries postmarked the 14th will be received.

—G. W. Larkham of Providence, J. Michel and Robert Graham of New York, J. C. Brady and wife of Fall River, Thomas J. Gerry and P. G. Pond of Boston, Uriah B. Dodge of Block Island and A. B. Anderson of Fitchburg are at the Perry House.

—Among the arrivals at the Ocean House today are J. E. Cowdin, Dr. P. F. Francke, R. E. Francke, Dr. J. S. Canean, Mrs. A. L. Willing and Percy T. Willey of New York; J. Lippman of Georgia; W. H. Jackson of Baltimore; Bloomfield McIlvaine of Philadelphia; J. D. Duff, Jacob Morse and wife and E. E. Goddale of Boston and Dr. J. C. Bliekensdufer and family of Denver.

THE FEAST OF THE ASSUMPTION.

Tomorrow will be the feast of the Assumption, the anniversary of the starting and of the consecration of St. Mary's Church, and will be observed by masses at 7 and 10 A. M., the latter a high mass, and possibly with musical vespers in the evening. Bishop Harkins, who has been visiting Rev. Dr. Grace at St. Mary's rectory this week, will probably assist in the services. At St. Joseph's Church services will be held at 5.30 and 8.

MR. PAGET'S ROSEMARY.

Schooner yacht Woodmansee and 30-footer Rosemary are hauled out at Crowley's yard. The latter is Mr. Paget's English boat, and she attracts considerable attention because of the difference between her and the Herreshoff boats. Her fin bulb and rudder differ materially from those of the American boats, the fin being very long and tapering to the forward edge of the lead. The finish is very rough compared with that of the American boats. The Rosemary will have her fin moved aft a few inches, to try to improve her.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The second entertainment of living pictures and tableaux was given last evening to a good and appreciative audience, "Joan d'Arc," "A Japanese Tea Party," "The Lilies" and "All's Well That Ends Well" receiving several encores. "Grandfather's Tales," in which Dr. Turnbull represented the venerable grandparent, was a good conception. At the close of the entertainment Major Thomas Lord was called for, and appearing spoke in a pleasant manner of the success of the entertainments financially, thanking the people for their generous patronage, through which St. Matthew's Church will receive a goodly sum of money. He referred to the valuable assistance rendered by Mr. Elliot in conducting the musical part of the entertainment. Mr. Elliot was called for and responded very briefly, saying that he preferred to talk with his fingers. His rendering on the piano of his portion of the program evidenced his ability to talk in that manner. The amount of labor required in the setting of the stage may be imagined when it is known that in one tableau nearly one hundred articles were required. Major and Mrs. Lord have contributed to St. Matthew's Church two handsome and valuable chancel chairs.

In addition to the regular weekly hop at the Bay View this evening, the Brown University Glee Club will give a concert directly preceding the hop.

Mr. Walter Brown of Boston is guest of Mr. H. H. Luther.

The heavy rain this morning upset many plans of the summer visitors. Trips to Newport, visits to Beavertail and the Dumplings and to Narragansett Pier, as well as sailing parties, were necessarily abandoned, and the people were obliged to amuse themselves indoors. Some of the ladies took to novels, and others to fancy work, backgammon or cards, while the gentlemen discussed the silver and gold question and the failure of the Bryan meeting in New York. Others still watched from their verandas the pretty panorama that is always presented upon the bay, or embraced the opportunity to clean their wheels, all much gratified with the change of temperature since yesterday.

Captain Adolphus Knowles of the Sylvan Shore has placed at the corner of his wharf and Walcott avenue several large posters, upon which are marked his opinion of the methods of the management of the old ferry company, and calling attention to the advantage to passengers taking his line in preference to steamer Conanicut. The directors of the ferry company have made no reply to the charges made by Captain Knowles, and probably will not.

Mr. Thomas Wright has contracted to build a small addition upon the house of Mrs. James Hopkins.

THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Drawings Made for the Annual Contests at the Casino.

The entries for the sixteenth annual tournament of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, which will begin at the Casino next Tuesday, were closed today, and the drawings were made by Dr. James Dwight, Mr. O. S. Campbell, and J. T. Whittlesey, secretary of the association. There were fifty-four entries, the smallest number since 1890. Last year there were 82, the largest in the history of the association; in 1894, 62; in 1893, 79; in 1892, 70; in 1891, 72; in 1890, 53; in 1889, 32, and in 1888, 33. The drawings are as follows:

FIRST ROUND.

C. B. Neel vs. J. R. Carpenter.
E. Lynman vs. C. Craglin.
F. B. Stevens, Jr., vs. winner of Post-Budlong.
Winner of Fincke-Ware vs. T. M. Edwards.
W. D. Brownell vs. R. H. Carleton.
W. Jordan vs. E. P. Fischer.

The list contains few of the names of players who have made tennis what it is today, and who in years past have held prominent places in the national tournament, and one will look in vain for the names of Sears, Slocum, Campbell, Brinley, Huntington, Knapp, Ryerson and Foote. John Howland, one of the best of the younger players, is also missing. Hovey's name does not appear in the list, but he is the present holder of the national championship and will defend his title against the winner of the all-comers'.

There are, however, a number of excellent players, who will make the tournament interesting. First of all is R. D. Wrenn, who will doubtless do his best to gain a chance to recover the honors of national champion, which he lost last year to Hovey. W. A. Larned, who made an excellent record against the English players in the early summer, will be near the head at the end, and is regarded as the probable winner. Then there are Malcolm G. Chace, the brilliant but erratic player who represents Yale; C. R. Budlong, Brown's best player; C. B. Neel, the Chicago champion; E. P. Fischer of Yale, one of the most promising of the younger men; M. D. Whitman and L. E. Ware of Harvard, Richard Stevens, a determined opponent of the best players; G. W. Lee, J. P. Paret, Evarts Wrenn, W. A. Bethel and R. P. Davis, the West Point champions; Deane Miller and H. E. Avery, a former Canadian champion, enough to furnish good games during the week.

The championship in doubles will be played off Tuesday, when Wrenn and Chace will defend the championship against the winners of the final match at Narragansett Pier, between Hovey and Hobart, the eastern champions, and C. B. and S. R. Neel, the western champions.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE

With your eyes. If SEEING is uncomfortable, whether you wear glasses or not, have your eyes examined by a SPECIALIST: some one you have confidence understands the eye and all the defects it is subject to, you will then have each eye examined separately with SCIENTIFIC TESTS by a person with experience. Don't be tempted to TAKE A CHANCE with your eyes simply because a man has glasses to sell and OFFERS THEM CHEAP. How can any one without knowledge and experience tell you what your eyes require? Are you willing to trust to chance in getting what is right? Don't force YOUR EYES to fit the glasses. Have the GLASSES FITTED to the eyes. I have been successful in fitting ACCURATELY the majority of the spectacle-wearing people of Newport. Ask some of them. THEY ARE MY REFERENCES. Let me try your case; advice costs you nothing.

THE SINGLE TAX IN DELAWARE.

The little and sparsely settled state of Delaware has no provision in its constitution that would stand in the way of the single tax scheme should the legislature pass an act looking to the change. It was found to be, therefore, the easiest state in the Union to be worked by tax reformers in favor of the experiment. And so, by a concert of action, Henry George and his associates entered upon a campaign of education in favor of this new scheme and have been hard at work upon it for many months, and the controversy is still on.

And now the strange story is sent out that the Delaware authorities, especially at Dover, the state capital, are persecuting the agitators, and even putting them in prison, because of the theories advanced and urged upon the people. Says one authority: "The single-tax campaign in Delaware is developing martyrs. Of the eighty prisoners in the Dover jail, seventeen are there because of their advocacy of the principles of Henry George in the public streets of the city. These men are said to be eminently respectable, and include among their number an importer, a manufacturer, a physician, a minister who went from Minnesota to Delaware for the express purpose of taking part in the campaign, a merchant, an editor and a farmer. Some are men of wealth."

The men who are thus suffering martyrdom, when the facts are fully understood, will be entitled to but a cheap crown, which at best should be made of pasteboard and bedecked with red paint. The facts are entirely different from what is represented. Dover is a small city, and has a pleasant and commodious park near its centre. By a city ordinance public meetings may be held in this park, at which addresses may be made on any proper subject. At the same time the ordinance prohibits public meetings in the streets, on the ground that these should be kept open for the use of the people. Says the writer already quoted: "The single-taxers insist on delivering speeches in the streets, for which they are arrested and given the alternative of paying a fine of $10 or going to jail for thirty days. In defense of 'the right of free speech' they refused to pay the fine, contending that they had violated no ordinance. Consequently they were lodged in jail. The authorities grant the single-taxers the right to speak in the park, but object to their speaking in the streets, charging that the crowds block the thoroughfares." Surely there are no martyr's honors to be won in a controversy of this nature. The ordinance is much the same as in other cities, and we doubt not would be as resolutely enforced in Rhode Island, and even in Newport, as in Delaware. Most of those involved are strangers, and their refusal to obey the laws shows that they are also cranks. The feeling between them and the authorities runs high, and it may be of interest to know what the citizens of Dover think of the invaders who seek to conquer the state capital, even as Coxey hoped to obtain control of Washington. At a meeting called in the interest of the single taxers, which fell into the hands of the enemy, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The streets of this town have for some time been blocked by a set of irresponsible and depraved people of other states, in defiance of the charter and ordinances of this town, which have been in existence for twenty years; and

Whereas, The officials of the town have, by resolution of council, given these people the right to speak in the public square of the town on all occasions; and

Whereas, These people, in defiance of law and in utter disregard of all law, have set up for themselves the higher law doctrine and proclaimed that they will not be bound by town authority or the laws of the state; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the citizens of the town, in mass meeting assembled, That we will use every endeavor to sustain our town officials in upholding the charter of the town and the ordinances thereof, at the present and at all future times, against law breakers, whether from within or without the state.

Resolved, further, That we denounce as enemies to good government any and all persons who encourage or countenance the disturbing of the peace of this town by the nightly assemblages of worthless vagabonds from other states, assisted by irresponsible people in this state.

Resolved, further, That there be a committee of three attorneys at law appointed by the chairman of this meeting, whose duty shall be to report to the aldermen of the town whether there is sufficient authority under our laws for putting these pests of society at work in chain gangs in our streets whenever found guilty of violating the laws and ordinances of the town.

BRYAN IN NEW YORK.

The great meeting in New York, which it was supposed would fire the public heart through the eloquence of Mr. Bryan, appears to have entirely failed of its purpose. As we predicted in advance, the guardian care of the managers of the campaign who had the revision if not the moulding of Mr. Bryan's speech, left little or no room for such eloquent outbursts as that at Chicago which secured for him the nomination. Some one has justly said that the people went to Madison Square Garden to hear a speech and not to listen to the reading of an essay, and so were disappointed. Long before the address was over the people began to leave, and at its close only those impelled by a sense of duty to the candidate and the party were in their places.

Poor Mr. Sewall secured no hearing at all. His notification was read to him in a tone scarcely to be heard across the platform, and the noise and confusion were so great in the rush for the streets that nobody gave his words a hearing. And so the meeting, which had opened with great expectations on the part of the multitude, fell apart and perished of its own weight. It was burdened with too much machine management. Left to himself, Mr. Bryan might have done better—certainly he could not have done worse.

It goes without saying that the address was altogether too long as well as too didactic. It proceeded to discuss, even to details, some of the most common-place questions before the people, upon the apparent assumption that the arguments were new as well as vitally important. If the western managers thought such a discussion necessary in such a place and at such a time, they must have failed to have read the Eastern newspapers or have become oblivious to current events. The arguments as set forth may be all right as a campaign doctrine, or worthy of a careful reading by both sides, but it was not the right thing in the right place. The New York audience gathered to hear the "boy orator of the Platte," whose flaming eloquence had stampeded the Chicago convention, and was expected to arouse a whirlwind of enthusiasm in New York. Disappointed in that, they lost all interest in the proceedings. Taken all in all, the meeting was a failure so far as anticipated results are concerned.

A SAD CASE.

The striking tailors in New York are making but slight progress, if any at all. The strikers are in no condition to remain long out of work, and their employers know it. The contest thus becomes one-sided, but it is greatly to the discredit of the more fortunate class that they are resolved to push the weaker party to the wall, regardless of the claims of justice and of a common humanity.

The striking garment workers have long been kept at the very doors of starvation. They are for the most part illiterate as well as poor. A great proportion of the whole are women and children, for under the sweat-shop system or its equivalents every member of the family must work early and late in order to keep soul and body together.

The demands of the strikers are very small and altogether reasonable, unless we propose in this country to establish a pauper class; or, perhaps more properly speaking, to perpetuate a pauper class, since most of these workers are foreigners. And of all things this is the most contrary to the spirit of American institutions and the genius of our people. Having admitted these foreigners and made many of them citizens and voters, we must proceed to elevate them above the level which they occupied in the Old World or bring our institutions and professions into contempt.

Candidate Watson, who figures as one of the tails to the Populist ticket, appears to have been wholly overlooked at the Madison Square Garden reception. It is understood that among the invitations sent out he alone of the shining lights was not included. And yet if Tom Watson and his especial friends were to be so affronted as to refuse to support the nomination it would be all up with Mr. Bryan. The Democrats alone could not hope to carry the election this year, even if they were united, and now that they are split in twain and are to have two candidates, the Populists are their only hope. Unless they tread more softly on Tom Watson's corns he may take offense, and cause his name to be removed from the ticket.

The New York Times has been purchased by a syndicate for $75,000, including its good will, copyrights, printing materials and all other assets. The syndicate was represented by Spencer Trask, a New York broker. It is announced that the paper will continue with practically the same editorial management. It is to be hoped so, for the Times is one of the ablest and best of the great dailies of the metropolitan city.

There was a great crowd at the Madison Square Garden meeting. It was a Democratic gathering, but where, oh, where, were such Democrats as ex Governors Flower and Hill, ex-Secretaries Whitney and Fairchild, ex-Congressmen Belmont and Cockran, ex-Mayors Grace and Hewitt and a host of other old-time party leaders whom all true Democrats delight to honor?

Terrible stories are now told of Japanese cruelties in Formosa, but they need to be confirmed before being fully accepted. It is known that the Formosans bitterly oppose Japanese supremacy and have been fighting hard against it ever since their island was incorporated with the Mikado's dominions.

It is evident that if it were not for a continued dread of the negro vote in state elections, there would be a decided shifting of political lines in the South this year. The parties are badly split up in that section as in the North, but the fear of the negro vote drives all the factions to cover.

Hon. David S. Baker is prominently named as a suitable successor to the late Judge Carpenter. He has always stood high in the Democratic party; is well qualified for the position, and his appointment would be eminently satisfactory to the people of Rhode Island.

The Irish land bill is likely to become a law, the differences between the House of Lords and the Commons having been practically settled through mutual concessions. Of course the bill will satisfy neither party, but as a means to an end may prove of service.

Lowell is rejoicing in a tax rate of $15, the lowest in seventeen years, says an exchange. But Newport is groaning over a tax rate of $10.50, which is as high as has been known here for the same number of years.

It is said that Mrs. Bryan will attend to the business end of her husband's campaign. That is bad for her, for the end thereof is sure to be a collapse from which recovery is impossible.

Candidate Tom Watson threatens to take the stump in Maine. If he would take all the stumps in the Pine Tree state and plant them in Georgia, the down-Easters would be happy.

The Westerly Daily Sun shows up well since its enlargement, and is a credit to Rhode Island journalism.

There was a big strike of table waiters at the restaurants in Boston yesterday.

There are said to be two hundred cases of malaria on what is known as Smith's Hill in Providence. Somebody is to blame for that, as the locality rightly treated should be as healthy as any in New England.

Candidate Bryan made a moving speech in New York.

The blessed rain came at last.

NO MORE TIGHT GLOVES.

The last article of wear dear to the feminine heart that the health advocates have set the seal of their displeasure on is the tight-fitting glove. This will be distressing news to many women who would willingly deprive themselves of expensive lingerie in order to wear gloves that make more outward show. Women pride themselves on exhibiting a neatly gloved hand almost as much as encasing their feet in shoes which are ruinous to the natural shape of the feet. In doing this they are perhaps unaware that women of the stage who pride themselves on the appearance of their hands when ungloved, as well as when incased in costly gloves, do not approve of pinching them with tight gloves. Bernhardt and Terry, who are famous for the beauty of their hands and arms, wear long, loose-wristed gloves. Miss Terry has a large hand, but it is in proportion to her figure, and she does not squeeze either into tight compresses.

Next to wearing tight shoes and tight corsets, the habit of squeezing the hands into tight gloves is perhaps the most foolish of feminine weaknesses. And yet interviews with prominent glove dealers all prove that about two thirds of their customers will insist upon purchasing gloves from one half to one full size too small for their hands, and resent any remarks that the clerks may make that would suggest the abandonment of this hobby. "Why, we are even forced to suggest smaller sizes, and make delicate remarks about their tiny hands, in order oftentimes to secure their favors," one prominent dealer stated, smilingly.

The wearers of tight gloves are not always ignorant people, by any means, but they are invariably of a vain and shallow type who have no regard for artistic beauty and are martyrs when it comes to physical suffering. For there is certainly nothing much more uncomfortable in the way of dress than tight squeezing, ill-fitting gloves, with buttons straining to their utmost tension and with the palm fairly bulging out in a mass of almost purple flesh, which has been forced into this unnatural position.

"Women with very long fingers nearly always buy short-fingered gloves," another glove seller stated, "and then when the sharp, pointed nails have eaten through the ends of the fingers, they bring them back with all manner of complaints, and there is absolutely nothing to be said. If we wish to retain their custom. A very fine quality of kid is always more flexible than a cheap quality, consequently a lady who wears a number 6 in a $1 glove can frequently wear a five and three quarters in a $2.50 quality, just as one can wear two or more sizes of shoes in different makes and have each fit satisfactorily. It is mostly large, fleshy women who persist in wearing tight gloves. They have full small hands originally, before they gained their superabundance of adipose, and because they wore number six gloves at eighteen, they insist upon wearing them at forty; and although the terrible pressure on the flesh and blood vessels makes the hands clumsy and benumbed, they will not relinquish this bit of feminine vanity."

It is a well known fact that women who possess the whitest and most beautiful hands always wear loose gloves. To keep the skin soft and pliable, the blood must have perfectly free circulation, and this cannot be when the wrist is encircled with a merciless band of kid and when thumb and fingers are crammed into unnatural positions.—[Washington Star.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, August 14, 8 A. M.—For New England—Local showers in eastern and southern portions today and tonight, followed by fair Saturday; easterly winds, shifting to southerly; warmer in western portions Saturday.

FOR BOSTON AND VICINITY.

BOSTON, August 14, 8 A. M.—For Boston and vicinity—Generally fair tonight; fair Saturday; easterly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

No well defined storm appears within the field of observation this morning, the barometers registering in general at or above the normal readings. Nevertheless, a small area of unsettled weather prevails in the upper Mississippi valley, and last night there were rains in parts of the following-named districts: The New England states, the middle Atlantic coast section, the east Gulf states, the lower lake region and the Missouri valley. In several instances the rain occurred with thunder and lightning, but in quantity the precipitation was moderate, except at Pittsburg and Washington, where thunder storms gave 2.39 and 1.90 inches respectively. Cool temperatures, ranging at the morning observation hour between 50 and 70 degrees, are the feature over the northern half of the country, and in the southern states the range is confined mostly between 75 and 85 degrees. New England states are clouded; rain is falling in southern Maine, and the winds are from north to east.

OLNEY'S REPLY.

Probably the Most Important Document in the Arbitration Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, August 14.—The despatch of Secretary Olney to Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambassador, referred to in the House of Commons debate today, was considered by many the most important document in the arbitration correspondence between this country and Great Britain. The despatch was devoted to a discussion of proposals submitted by Lord Salisbury for the settlement of the Venezuelan boundary dispute—that a commission of four persons be appointed by the two governments to ascertain certain facts, and upon the basis of those facts draw a boundary line, "which, however, is in no case to encroach upon the bona fide settlements of either party." Secretary Olney pointed out the improbability of such a commission determining anything definite by which the respective governments should be bound, and further the difficulty of reconciling the claims regarding "bona fide" settlements.

The despatch concludes with these counter-proposals, which Mr. Balfour said today "were regarded by the foreign office as opening the way for an equitable settlement of the difficulty." In the opinion of this government, the proposals of Lord Salisbury's despatch can be made to meet the requirements and the justice of the case only if amended in various particulars. The commission upon facts should be so constituted, by adding one or more members, that it must reach a result, and cannot become abortive and possibly mischievous. That commission should have power to report upon all the facts necessary to the decision of the boundary controversy, including the facts pertaining to the occupation of the disputed territory by British subjects. The proviso by which the boundary line, as drawn by the tribunal of three, is not to include the territory bona fide occupied by British subjects or Venezuelan citizens on the first of January, 1887, should be stricken out altogether, or there might be substituted for it the following:

"Provided, however, that in fixing such a line, if territory of one party be found in the occupation of the subjects or citizens of the other party, such weight and effect shall be to such occupation as reason, justice, the rules of international law and the equities of the particular case may appear to require.

State Department officials are highly gratified with the tone of Mr. Balfour's reply to Sir William Harcourt's query about the effect on the government of the above despatch, and while in the absence of Secretary Olney, who has been exclusively in charge of the negotiations, nothing definite can be learned of the succeeding correspondence, if any, that has passed, confidence is expressed that an agreement will be reached before next December for an exhaustive arbitration of the Venezuelan-Guianian boundary controversy.

Under the same date Secretary Olney transmitted to Sir Julian Pauncefote the following despatch, communicating the determination of this government not to permit the Venezuelan question to complicate the scheme for a general arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain, which is under consideration concurrently with the other subject:

Department of State, Washington; D. C., June 12, 1896. I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt from you of a copy of Lord Salisbury's despatch to you of the eighteenth ult., relating to a proposed general treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. The contents have received the careful consideration of this government, and I shall take the earliest practicable opportunity to submit some observations upon the propositions the despatch sets forth and discusses. Meanwhile, however, I deem it advisable to re-call attention to the fact that, so far as the Venezuelan boundary dispute is concerned, the position of this government has been plainly defined, not only by the executive but by the unanimous concurring action of both branches of Congress. A genuine arbitration, issuing in an award and finally disposing of the controversy, whether under a special or a general treaty of arbitration, would be entirely consistent with that position, and would be cordially welcomed by this government. On the other hand, while a treaty of general arbitration, providing for a tentative decision merely upon territorial claims, though not all that this government deems desirable or feasible, might nevertheless be accepted by it as a step in the right direction, it would not, under the circumstances, feel at liberty to include the Venezuelan boundary dispute within the scope of such a treaty. It is deemed advisable to be thus explicit in the interest of both governments, that the pending negotiations for a general treaty of arbitration may proceed without any misapprehension.

CONVENTION POSTPONED.

Democrats Will Name Presidential Electors in September.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, August 14.—The Democratic state convention for the nomination of Presidential electors will not be held August 26, as originally determined, but September 9 instead. The change is made because it is deemed inadvisable to hold the convention during the hot weather of the summer, and because the Newport Democrats were especially anxious that the caucuses should not be held during the height of the season.

General Hunter C. White, Newton D. Arnold and Joseph O. Earle, thirty-third-degree Masons, went to New York today, to meet the remains of the late Judge George M. Carpenter, who was a prominent Mason. The body is expected to reach New York tomorrow and to be brought to Providence Sunday.

Lease and Lewellying Family War Declared Off.

WICHITA, Kansas, August 14.—Mrs. Lease commissioned her son to go to the Populist county convention yesterday, and officially declare that the political war heretofore existing between the Lease and Lewellying families had been declared off. Young Lease seconded the nomination of ex-Governor Lewellying for state senator and the convention went wild in its demonstrations of joy.

Assignment of New York Merchants.

NEW YORK, August 14.—J. Acevedo & Co., exporters and commission merchants at 90 and 98 Maiden Lane, assigned today. The firm was formed last October, with a claimed capital of $50,000.

Severe Storms in the Mexican Mountains.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, August 14.—Advices have reached here of terrific storms in the mountains west of this city. Buildings on several ranches were destroyed, and at the Borrios ranch five persons were killed.

NO POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE.

Two Cabinet Officers Call Upon President Cleveland.

BUZZARD'S BAY, August 14.—The President had two of his cabinet officers at "Gray Gables" this morning. Secretary Carlisle came over from Marion on steamer Mistletoe, in a pouring rain storm. Mrs. Carlisle and William Carlisle and family accompanied him. An early train brought Secretary of War Lamont and Dr. Bryan. Secretary Olney, however, is not present, and is not expected today. Dr. Bryan will make an extended visit at "Gray Gables." Secretary Lamont will remain but a short time, and will join his family at Long Branch.

That two of the cabinet should arrive at "Gray Gables" at the same time gave rise to the supposition that the President had summoned them here, but inquiry fails to confirm this. Secretary Carlisle's family simply called to pay their respects, and Secretary Lamont was expected for "a few days' visit. There have been no matters discussed in private between the President and his cabinet officers. All the visitors, including the ladies, held informal conversation on the verandas. Secretary Carlisle will return to Marion as soon as it ceases raining.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The entries for the Newport horse show will close tonight, but for the convenience of exhibitors who may not be able to make them until late the office will be kept open until 6:30. Entries postmarked the 14th will be received.

—G. W. Larkham of Providence, J. Michel and Robert Graham of New York, J. C. Brady and wife of Fall River, Thomas J. Corey and P. G. Pond of Boston, Uriah B. Dodge of Block Island and A. B. Anderson of Fitchburg are at the Perry House.

—Among the arrivals at the Ocean House today are J. E. Cowdin, Dr. P. F. Francke, R. E. Francke, Dr. J. S. Caneau, Mrs. A. L. Willing and Percy T. Willey of New York; J. Lippman of Georgia; W. H. Jackson of Baltimore; Bloomfield McIlvaine of Philadelphia; J. D. Duff, Jacob Morse and wife and F. E. Goddale of Boston and Dr. J. C. Blickensdofer and family of Denver.

THE FEAST OF THE ASSUMPTION.

Tomorrow will be the feast of the Assumption, the anniversary of the starting and of the consecration of St. Mary's Church, and will be observed by masses at 7 and 10 A. M., the latter a high mass, and possibly with musical vespers in the evening. Bishop Harkins, who has been visiting Rev. Dr. Grace at St. Mary's rectory this week, will probably assist in the services. At St Joseph's Church services will be held at 5:30 and 8.

MR. PAGET'S ROSEMARY.

Schooner yacht Woodmansee and 30-footer Rosemary are hauled out at Crowley's yard. The latter is Mr. Paget's English boat, and she attracts considerable attention because of the difference between her and the Herreshoff boats. Her fin bulb and rudder differ materially from those of the American boats, the fin being very long and tapering to the forward edge of the lead. The finish is very rough compared with that of the American boats. The Rosemary will have her fin moved aft a few inches, to try to improve her.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The second entertainment of living pictures and tableaux was given last evening to a good and appreciative audience, "Joan d'Arc," "A Japanese Tea Party," "The Lilies" and "All's Well That Ends Well" receiving several encores. "Grandfather's Tales," in which Dr. Turnbull represented the venerable grandparent, was a good conception. At the close of the entertainment Major Thomas Lord was called for, and appearing spoke in a pleasant manner of the success of the entertainments financially, thanking the people for their generous patronage, through which St. Matthew's Church will receive a goodly sum of money. He referred to the valuable assistance rendered by Mr. Elliot in conducting the musical part of the entertainment. Mr. Elliot was called for and responded very briefly, saying that he preferred to talk with his fingers. His rendering on the piano of his portion of the program evidenced his ability to talk in that manner. The amount of labor required in the setting of the stage may be imagined when it is known that in one tableau nearly one hundred articles were required. Major and Mrs. Lord have contributed to St. Matthew's Church two handsome and valuable chancel chairs.

In addition to the regular weekly hop at the Bay View this evening, the Brown University Glee Club will give a concert directly preceding the hop.

Mr. Walter Brown of Boston is guest of Mr. H. H. Luther.

The heavy rain this morning upset many plans of the summer visitors. Trips to Newport, visits to Beavertail and the Dumplings and to Narragansett Pier, as well as sailing parties, were necessarily abandoned, and the people were obliged to amuse themselves indoors. Some of the ladies took to novels, and others to fancy work, backgammon or cards, while the gentlemen discussed the silver and gold question and the failure of the Bryan meeting in New York. Others still watched from their verandas the pretty panorama that is always presented upon the bay, or embraced the opportunity to clean their wheels, all much gratified with the change of temperature since yesterday.

Captain Adolphus Knowles of the Sylvan Shore has placed at the corner of his wharf and Walcott avenue several large posters, upon which are marked his opinion of the methods of the management of the old ferry company, and calling attention to the advantage to passengers taking his line in preference to steamer Conanicut. The directors of the ferry company have made no reply to the charges made by Captain Knowles, and probably will not.

Mr. Thomas Wright has contracted to build a small addition upon the house of Mrs. James Hopkins.

Drawings Made for the Annual Contests at the Casino.

The entries for the sixteenth annual tournament of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, which will begin at the Casino next Tuesday, were closed today, and the drawings were made by Dr. James Dwight, Mr. O. S. Campbell, and J. T. Whittlesey, secretary of the association. There were fifty-four entries, the smallest number since 1890. Last year there were 82, the largest in the history of the association; in 1894, 62; in 1893, 79; in 1892, 70; in 1891, 72; in 1890, 53; in 1889, 32, and in 1888, 33. The drawings are as follows:

PRELIMINARY ROUND.

A. W. Post vs. C. R. Budlong.
W. C. Grant vs. R. Stevens.
R. H. Palmer vs. G. H. Miles.
C. M. Pope vs. H. D. Cleveland.
J. P. Paret vs. C. N. Cordiero, Jr.
A. Hawes vs. J. McL. Walton.
W. L. Myers vs. M. G. Chace.
C. A. Gould vs. H. E. Avery.
E. Wrenn vs. W. T. Cloulter.
H. D. Wrenn vs. N. P. Hallowell.
J. C. Davidson vs. D. Davis.
S. Ward vs. E. Stille.
W. A. Larned vs. Deane Miller.
G. W. Lee vs. W. A. Bethel.
T. K. Willing vs. E. A. Thomson.
M. D. Whitman vs. J. F. Talmadge.
C. Cleveland, Jr., vs. A. von W. Leslie.
H. Ward vs. L. J. Grant.
W. W. Reese vs. R. P. Davis.
K. Horton vs. G. P. Sheldon, Jr.
H. T. Parke vs. J. C. Neely.
R. Fincke vs. L. E. Ware.

FIRST ROUND.

C. B. Neel vs. J. R. Carpenter.
E. Lyman vs. C. Crugin.
F. B. Stevens, Jr., vs. Winner of Post-Budlong.
Winner of Fincke-Ware vs. T. M. Edwards.
W. D. Brownell vs. R. H. Carleton.
W. Jordan vs. E. P. Fischer.

The list contains few of the names of players who have made tennis what it is today, and who in years past have held prominent places in the national tournament, and one will look in vain for the names of Sears, Slocum, Campbell, Brinley, Huntington, Knapp, Ryerson and Foote. John Howland, one of the best of the younger players, is also missing. Hovey's name does not appear in the list, but he is the present holder of the national championship and will defend his title against the winner of the all-comers'.

There are, however, a number of excellent players, who will make the tournament interesting. First of all is R. D. Wrenn, who will doubtless do his best to gain a chance to recover the honors of national champion, which he lost last year to Hovey. W. A. Larned, who made an excellent record against the English players in the early summer, will be near the head at the end, and is regarded as the probable winner. Then there are Malcolm G. Chace, the brilliant but erratic player who represents Yale; C. R. Budlong, Brown's best player; C. B. Neel, the Chicago champion; E. P. Fischer of Yale, one of the most promising of the younger men; M. D. Whitman and L. E. Ware of Harvard, Richard Stevens, a determined opponent of the best players; G. W. Lee, J. P. Paret, Evarts Wrenn, W. A. Bethel and R. P. Davis, the West Point champions; Deane Miller and H. E. Avery, a former Canadian champion, enough to furnish good games during the week.

The championship in doubles will be played off Tuesday, when Wrenn and Chace will defend the championship against the winners of the final match at Narragansett Pier, between Hovey and Hobart, the eastern champions, and C. B. and S. R. Neel, the western champions.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE

With your eyes. If SEEING is uncomfortable, whether you wear glasses or not, have your eyes examined by a SPECIALIST; some one you have confidence understands the eye and all the defects it is subject to, you will then have each eye examined separately with SCIENTIFIC TESTS by a person with experience. Don't be tempted to TAKE A CHANCE with your eyes simply because a man has glasses to sell and OFFERS THEM CHEAP. How can any one without knowledge and experience tell you what your eyes require? Are you willing to trust to chance in getting what is right? Don't force YOUR EYES to fit the glasses. Have the GLASSES FITTED to the eyes. I have been successful in fitting ACCURATELY the majority of the spectacle-wearing people of Newport. Ask some of them. THEY ARE MY REFERENCES. Let me try your case; advice costs you nothing.

SPECIAL WIRE TO THE NEWS.

NAVAL ENGINEERS.

Force so Small That the Officers Collapse From Overwork.

WASHINGTON, August 14.—The alarming news received yesterday at the Navy Department, telling of the physical collapse of Chief Engineer George E. Tower and Passed Assistant Engineer Andrew McAllister, both of battleship Indiana, gave rise in the minds of naval officers on duty here to the question whether in the care of our warships the danger line has not been crossed in the attempt of the overworked naval engineers to carry on the exacting duties required of them. The North Atlantic squadron has now had only eight days of grand manoeuvres, and during that short period the efficiency of the most powerful battleship of the fleet has been temporarily impaired, two of the four naval engineers attached to the vessel having been condemned by medical survey and sent to the national hospital for treatment.

"It is not surprising," said a prominent official last night" that this repeated tale of the prostration of naval engineers is heard from our warships. In the British service there are one half as many engineers as deck officers, while in the American navy there are only one fourth as many engineers as there are officers of the line. The physical history of the corps of naval engineers," he continued, "during the past two years is a sad one, and it emphasizes the fact that not only must the number of engineers be increased, but their condition should be improved in order to render the ships efficient for the day of battle. The engineers are now working under an organization which was founded upon the necessities of wooden ships, but which is not adapted to vessels of steel."

AS TO VENEZUELA.

American Proposal Opening a Way to an Amicable Settlement.

LONDON, August 14.—In the House of Commons today Sir William Harcourt, leader of the opposition, asked in regard to the Venezuelan situation if the proposal contained in the despatch sent to the foreign office by the United States government June 12 last had removed the difficulties, and further inquired whether there were any prospects of a speedy submission of the question to arbitration.

Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, replied that the government is still considering the proposal made by the United States government, which is regarded by the foreign office as opening the way for an equitable settlement of the difficulty. The government, he added, has every expectation that the pending negotiations will lead to an early and satisfactory result.

Sir William Harcourt said that the House would regard Mr. Balfour's statement as satisfactory, and asked to have the papers on the subject prepared to be presented to the House. Mr. Balfour replied that the government would present the papers to the House as soon as might be consistent with public interest.

Texas Populists Willing to Meet Democrats Halfway.

DALLAS, TEXAS, August 14.—At a meeting of the Populist state campaign committee yesterday it was determined that they be present at the state Democratic convention at Fort Worth next Tuesday, and propose a fusion on the Presidential electoral ticket, the Democrats taking eight and the Populists seven.

Looking Toward Fusion in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—The Democratic state central committee yesterday authorized a sub-committee to confer with the Populist state committee, to ascertain if it is possible to reach an agreement whereby only one electoral ticket shall be put in the field. The Populists of the state have taken no step toward fusion, but it is known that they are anxious for a conference.

THE SPANISH SOLDIER.

The Spanish soldier in Cuba becomes a different fellow from the Spanish soldier in Spain. In Spain he wears better clothes than in Cuba. In Spain he can march pretty well, manoeuvre a little, and show himself off to his best advantage. Although he is not taught to read or write, if he should happen to possess these accomplishments it qualifies him to become a corporal, or even a sergeant. In some districts of Spain even this accomplishment is so rare that qualified corporals are not easily found. The regular soldier comes to Cuba a raw recruit, with no other training than that which he may have received from his home surroundings. He can neither march, shoot nor answer the various bugle calls. In Spain he wears broadcloth; in Cuba he is dressed in cotton jeans. On the other hand, he gets much more to eat in Cuba than in Spain. I have heard it said in Spain (by the Spaniards themselves) that a Frenchman could barely exist upon the rations allowed a Spanish soldier, whereas an Englishman would starve to death. This ration consists of a weak coffee or its substitute in the morning. About 10 o'clock breakfast is served—a small bit of bread and a saucer of stewed beans and vegetables. This stew and bread is repeated in the afternoon, and is called dinner. The soldier rarely sees any meat, although a very small amount is supposed to furnish a portion of his stew. I have been told that some of the youths belonging to the better families find this diet insufficient upon entering the service, and they often find themselves obliged to call upon their families for aid, either from their kitchens or their purses. But in Cuba the soldier finds plenty of beef to eat. In Cuba he is allowed greater liberties, and he soon learns to become a much more independent and self-reliant person than the humble private in Spain. In his own country he is allowed two cents a day for spending money. In Cuba he is to get four dollars of the sixteen dollars per month, which is his scheduled pay while he is in campaign. If you ask an intelligent soldier why he does not get the sixteen dollars, he may be able to make some kind of calculation showing that a certain amount is taken to pay for his three-dollar uniform, while perhaps a much larger sum is required for his nice suit which he is supposed to put on when he goes back to Spain; then (I think) it is six dollars which is taken to pay for his "rancho," or his rations, and so on. I have had them explain it to me a number of times.—[Harper's Weekly.

MRS. STOWE AND WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

In the flood of memories and reminiscences printed since the death last month of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, the relations of the noted author with the woman suffrage cause have been strangely neglected. This important phase of Mrs. Stowe's character is authoritatively presented in a leading article in the August number of Current Events, wherein her position on woman's rights is defined by her sister, Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker. The interest taken by other members of the Beecher family is also referred to, and the fact is brought out that Mrs Stowe was elected vice president of the Connecticut Woman Suffrage Association at the first meeting, held in 1869. Aside from this important article, the other features of this August number are unusually interesting.

FOR SOUND MONEY.

Major McKinley's Address to Old War Comrades.

One hundred of the surviving members of the Twenty-third Ohio Infantry, William McKinley's old regiment, called on the Republican candidate for the Presidency at Canton, Ohio, Wednesday, and Captain J. S. Ellen, the spokesman, pledged to McKinley the undivided support of his old comrades in arms.

In response Mr. McKinley said in part: "I was glad to note in the eloquent speech of my comrade, Captain Ellen, that the old Twenty-third Ohio stands in 1896, as it stood in 1861, for the country and the country's flag. Nobody could have doubted that, knowing the metal from which this old regiment was made. My comrades, you are just as loyal to country now as you were loyal to country then, and as you stood from 1861 to 1865 for the preservation of the government of the United States, you stand today just as unitedly for the honor of the government and the preservation of its credit and currency.

"I do not know what you think about it, but I believe that it is a good deal better to open up the mills of the United States to the labor of America than to open up the mines of the United States to the silver of the world. Washington told us that there was nothing so important to preserve as the nation's honor. He said that the most important source of strength was the public credit and that the best method of preserving it was to use it as sparingly as possible.

"In the darkest days of the Revolution, Robert Morris, its financier, went to a friend in Philadelphia, after he had involved himself as a debtor for a large sum on account of the government, and said to him: 'I must have $1,500,000 for the Continental army.' His friend said: 'What security can thee give, Robert?' He answered, 'My name and my honor.' Quick came the reply: 'Robert, thou shalt have it,' and from that hour until now the country's honor has been our anchor in every storm.

"Lincoln pledged it when in time of war we issued paper money. He said 'Every dollar of that money shall be made as good as gold,' and it was left to Rutherford B. Hayes, your old colonel, as President of the United States, to execute that promise in the resumption of specie payments in 1879.

"When Robert Morris said that they had nothing to give but their honor, there was behind his word three million of struggling patriots. Today behind the nation's honor are seventy millions of freemen who mean to keep this government and its honor and integrity and credit unquestioned.

"I thank you, comrades, for this call. Nothing has given me greater pleasure, nothing gives me greater pride than to have been a private soldier with you in that great civil war."

WITH A GIRL AT THE HELM.

The boating girl—the yachtswoman—was created, of course, from those of the fair sex who saw something of fathers', brothers' and husbands' boating. Naturally the recent fashion of being athletic has had much to do with it, but such boating as the New York Yacht Club's cruising week in early August, which in the last year or two has been quadrupled by the weekly cruises of the Larchmont, Atlantic, and Seawanhaka clubs, has done the real work in all probability. This weekly cruise is a very familiar affair to all Easterners. It opens with a rendezvous at the head of Long Island Sound, which is a sheet of water that is nowhere in the world to be equalled for yachting purposes. Even Englishmen, who are the best yachtsmen on a large scale, and who are the worst people of the globe to like anything out of sight of their own homes, have to agree to that after a week spent there. The rendezvous may be at Glen Cove on Long Island, on Monday morning. There is a race there Monday. Tuesday comes the racing-in-cruising-trim run to New Haven in Connecticut; Wednesday a similar race to New London; Wednesday night is a great night for all hands ashore at the Pequot House hop; Thursday another race follows to Newport. Friday is the day of races from Brenton's Reef lightship, which yachtsmen owe to Mr. Ogden Goelet. Saturday includes one of the finest of all sails up Vineyard Sound to Vineyard Haven harbor. Sunday is a day of rest for the squadron, as it is supposed to be for every one in Christendom, and Monday and Tuesday are cruising races to New Bedford, and thence to Newport, where, on Wednesday, there may be more races or the cruise may officially break up.

On this cruise women originally did not care to go. Occasionally a crew would have a few feminine names on its list; and then finally regulations had to be made to give men their supposed peculiar rights. One of these has survived to this day, and is as strictly observed as unwritten laws always are. This is the law that no woman is allowed above deck on any yacht during the cruise until 8 a. m., the sailor-man's sunrise, because the yachtsman's day begins with a bath over the rail, and this one perquisite has been retained by him. Otherwise girls are a common sight nowadays during the cruise in their well-adapted combination of bicycle and golf costume of short skirt of thick scotch cloth, high lace tan-leather shoes with large low heels, small black or brown sailor hat, jacket of the same material as the skirt, and the still stranger looking golf coat made precisely like a man's short covert coat, except that the sleeves are gathered a little just at the shoulder. This proper yachting girl seldom wears gloves, sometimes has a veil, but never hesitates to take her due allowance of salt spray full in the face as it comes over the weather rail, while she cocks her eyes up at the headsails to see if they are shaking.—[Harper's Bazar.

Second Insurrection in Formosa Soon Quelled by the Japanese.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 14.—Tokio advices to July 31 give the following details of the insurrection in Formosa: The second insurrection in Formosa is now practically over. It commenced June 25, in the centre of the southern part of the island. Finding the Japanese totally unprepared, and being, moreover, re-inforced by malcontents from the plains, the insurgents achieved considerable success at first, capturing several small towns and driving out the Japanese garrisons. But immediately on receipt of this intelligence at headquarters troops were dispatched southward, and by July 8 the Japanese were able to assume the offensive. After that the insurgents were soon chased out of the field, and by July 20 the positions were recaptured. Up to the date of the latest advices the Japanese casualties were 51 killed and 73 wounded. The remainder of the rebels fled to the hills.

A resolute attempt is being made by the Chinese in Formosa to convict their conquerors of the most terrible brutalities and atrocities, and to prove that this insurrection owed its origin entirely to the unbearable cruelties of the Japanese. We are without foreign testimony as to what really happened. Only two foreigners were in the disturbed districts. Of these, one, Mr. Olila, of the firm of Messrs. Dinshaw & Co., was speared by the rebels; the other, Mr. Patel, of Messrs. Mehta & Co., barely escaped with his life from a town besieged by the insurgents. Every story circulated as to the doings of the Japanese comes, therefore, from a Chinese source, a fact in itself sufficient to vitiate the information. Precisely similar tales were invented by the Chinese during the insurrection last January, but the region of disturbance being then in the north of the island, and therefore within range of foreign observation, testimony was soon forthcoming to establish the complete falsehood of the charges.

The Chinese account is embellished with many details of incredible cruelty, but the main outlines of the story are that, on no stronger provocation than the wholesale burglaries in Tau-Lak by a gang of robbers, the Japanese decapitated fifty innocent men and then commenced a campaign of wholesale destruction, thirty-five soldiers in the space of four days performing the miraculous feat of burning over seventy villages and butchering all their inhabitants. It should be observed, too, that not alone are impossibilities of that kind gravely related, but that the various Chinese versions of Japanese doings abound with contradictions and obvious absurdities.

Japan's Unfortunate Year.

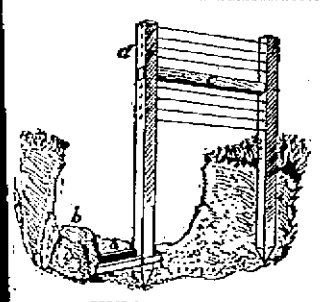

This is an unfortunate year for Japan. In addition to the block in the silk trade—a most serious affair for her business men—two insurrections in Formosa, a seismic wave that killed twenty-five thousand people, and very unseasonable weather at the time of planting out the young rice, a great part of the island was swept by a severe storm of wind and rain between July 15 and 19. Altogether something like twenty thousand houses were flooded, about two hundred people lost their lives, one hundred and fifty bridges were washed away, thousands of acres of arable land were laid waste, river embankments were breached in innumerable places, and several railway tracks were seriously damaged. However, already the people have recovered their lightheartedness, and the price of rice, forced by speculation and climatic perils to an unparalleled height, has dropped to a normal figure.

Railway Concessions in Corea.

The struggle for railway concessions in Corea is attracting much attention. An American company was first in the field; it obtained a charter for a Seoul-Chemulpo line. Then followed the French, and backed by Russian influence they are said to have persuaded the Corean government to grant them the privilege of building lines from Seoul to Wiju, on the Yalu, and from Seoul to Yon Seo, on the northeastern coast.

HOW TO BRACE A FENCE.

For cheapness, durability and neatness there is nothing better than either the smooth wire fence or woven picket. The end posts are the secret of success. These must be solid, as the strain all comes on them. A plan, on which there is no patent, is illustrated and described as follows for bracing an end post. The end post should not be less than six inches square and eight feet long, four feet in the ground. About six inches from the end that goes into the ground cut two notches, 2 by 4 inches, opposite sides of the post; spike into the notches two 2-by-4 pieces about seven feet long, and let about six project past on one side, the reon the other side. Dig the hole feet deep and long enough (parallel with the fence) to admit of the with the long ends of the from the fence. Get a large the larger the better, and place on a handle, fill up with dirt and tramp post in a brace parallel from the first second posts. NO CONSUMPTIVE WILL DIE

SO LONG AS HE CAN DIGEST AND ASSIMILATE FOOD.

All physicians admit this. Yet here the difficulty begins. How can we build up the consumptive's body as fast as the disease tears it down? Let us consider.

Cough mixtures must be avoided because they frequently contain opiates which arrest the digestion. Their only effect on the cough is by stupefying the nerves. Let them alone.

All foods that are hard to digest must be avoided, especially fats and oils. Only those foods that are easily digested and assimilated should be eaten. Foods not thus accepted by nature do no good; they do harm. Not what is merely eaten but what is digested and assimilated gives flesh and strength.

Consumption is starvation, slow or rapid, as may be. The first symptom is, not necessarily a cough, but a tendency to lose flesh, to grow thin. Stop this tendency now. Don't wait for obvious lung trouble. That's only a later development—only a minor point.

Stop the wasting and you master the disease—even though it may have made some slight inroads already. Increase the flesh and the danger is past.

What is needed is an especially-prepared food—a nutriment in itself and a digester of other foods.

Such an article is the Shaker Digestive Cordial, made by the Shaker Community, of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y. It creates a natural appetite and ensures the digestion of what is eaten with it. It overcomes the wasting which is fatal in the consumptive process.

A man may lose money and not die a bankrupt. One may have consumption and not die of it. This is science and sense. The success of this new remedy proves it.

HERA WINS.

Another Sweepstake Race of the Thirty-Footers.

The owners of the 30-footers, having an off day yesterday, decided upon a sweepstake race. The boats needed only to hoist sail and up anchor to be ready for the fray, but when they filled away it was evident that a white-ash breeze under the broiling sun that prevailed would make the contest anything but comfortable. Soon after the boats began to manœuvre a light breeze came up from the southeast, and soon gave promise of a steady light wind for the race, a promise that was kept. It was 2:50 o'clock when the starting gun was fired and the little craft got under way. The course was the triangular one, from the Brenton's cove buoy, around the Bishop buoy and a mark off Jamestown, to the start, twice around, the last leg being to windward. Mr. R. N. Ellis's Hera took the lead at the start, being right on the line as the gun fired. She was well handled by her owner, and from start to finish was never headed. The other craft, except Mr. Hostetter's Raccoon, went away well together, and there was much skillful work done in trying for places and taking chances at positions. The first round was quickly finished by the leaders, and after leaving the buoy in the cove the little craft started again up the harbor to Bishop buoy. Here Mr. Pembroke Jones's Carolina was withdrawn, having no chance for the prize. When Jamestown was reached the Raccoon went to her moorings, for the same reason. Just here, on the very last leg of the race, the Vaquero III, under the guidance of Mr. H. B. Duryea, and the Dorothy II, sailed by Mr. Gerald Paget and Mr. H. P. Whitney, had a pretty fight for second place, the Vaquero winning out through the greater skill and knowledge of her owner. The Vaquero was the only one of the regular winners to stand high, the others, especially the boats sailed by professionals, holding the last places, the amateurs securing all the glory. The summary is as follows:

	Turn.	Finish.	Time.
Hera	3:49:59	4:52:55	2:02:55
Vaquero III	3:54:30	4:54:45	2:04:45
Dorothy II	3:50:40	4:55:15	2:05:15
Esperanza	3:53:33	4:57:18	2:07:18
Wi Wa	3:52:40	4:58:59	2:08:59
Avanti	3:53:15	4:58:55	2:08:55
Minerva	3:54:15	4:59:00	2:09:00
Raccoon	3:54:15	withdrew
Carolina	3:54:30	withdrew

The boats race again off Newport today, and tomorrow off Bristol, for a cup offered by Mr. A. S. Van Winkle, owner of the Esperanza.

FIRE IN THE MANHANSETT HOTEL AT SHELTER ISLAND.

At 7 o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered in the laundry of the Manhansett House at Shelter Island. The fire got beyond control, and assistance was asked of the department at Greenport. One steamer and two hand engines and ladder trucks, with crews, were sent over on the ferry.

The fire spread to the engine rooms, thence to the kitchen and dining hall, and the original building, despite the efforts of the firemen, was destroyed. Had it not been for the Greenport department, the whole hotel would have gone, with many of the cottages. The new annex, with the casino, music hall, theatre, and the famous bridge connecting, was saved. The guests lost nothing.

F. A. Schermerhorn's yacht, the Free Lance, came to the wharf and placed a powerful stream at the disposal of the chief of the fire department.

Several firemen were overcome by heat and smoke, but no lives are believed to have been lost.

The loss will approximate $300,000, as this building contained the steam, electric light, elevator and gas plants for the remaining structures. The hotel was built by New York and Boston capitalists, and has been a success from the start. It has been added to until one thousand guests were often entertained. The place was noted as a rendezvous for yacht clubs. The property was insured and will be re-built for next season.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mr. Walter Russel of Canada preached at the camp meeting both morning and evening Thursday, and Rev. G. W. Wilson in the afternoon. A large number left in the morning, and there were a number of arrivals.

Miss Fannie P. Dennis was called to Providence Friday afternoon by telegram, to care for a sick friend.

Mr. Jonathan Munro of Bristol has been visiting his brother, Mr. David E. Munro.

Miss Edith Martin of Central Falls is visiting Miss Kate L. Durfee.

Mrs. A. M. Durfee entertained a family party yesterday, among the number being Mrs. W. W. Anthony and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Carter, son and daughter, Mrs. A. V. L. Dennis, Mrs. William F. Brayton and two daughters, Mrs. Perry G. Randall and Mrs. David B. Anthony and son.

PRACTICE POLO GAMES.

The polo players and their ponies, and the dealers with ponies to sell, were out in force at the polo ground yesterday afternoon, and for more than two hours and a half ponies tramped over the hard level ground, and mallets swung and balls rolled and goals were made and new ponies were tried out, all in an informal manner. To be sure, the playing was at any one time confined to eight players, four on a side, but the sides were changed so fast, and players dropped out and re-entered the game so often, that frequently the players did not know which side they were on, and there was nothing but individual playing. Neither the First Rockaway nor the First Myopia teams, which are to play this afternoon, were present, taking a lay off to give themselves and their ponies a rest for the hard struggle of today, but there were more than a dozen players and upwards of sixty ponies on the ground.

Among those who took part in the practice were Messrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., G. H. Norman, Jr., George von L. Meyer, C. Raoul Duval, Stanley Mortimer, C. Albert Stevens, H. H. Holmes, W. C. Eustis, M. Raoul Duval, W. K. Thorn, I. T. Burden, Jr., H. K. Vingut and J. D. R. Baldwin. Tomorrow the Myopia Second team and the Freebooters will play the first match for the Newport cups, for teams whose aggregate handicap is under twenty goals.

DEATH OF ARTHUR AMORY CODMAN.

Mr. Arthur Amory Codman, at one time a well known Boston business man, who has spent most of his time in recent years in Europe, died yesterday at his residence, the Chateau de Laufenberg, on the Rhine, in the Duchy of Baden.

Mr. Codman was born in Boston in 1833, and was the son of Henry Codman, a prominent lawyer. He entered upon a commercial career, receiving his business training with the firm of William Ropes & Co., who were engaged in the Russian trade. Afterward he was in the office of William C. Codman & Co., an East Indian house of prominence, the senior partner in which was his cousin.

For a number of years past Mr. Codman had led the life of a gentleman of leisure, paying only occasional visits to this country. His wife, who survives him, was a Miss Belknap. He also leaves two sisters, who reside in Bristol, where his remains will be brought for burial.

THE RECOGNITION OF THE MT. OLIVET BAPTIST CHURCH.

The ministerial council called by the Mt. Olivet Baptist Church to consider the condition of the church and act upon the request for recognition as a regular Baptist church met yesterday afternoon, with Rev. W. Scott of Boston as moderator, and Rev. J. H. Francis Robinson of Cambridgeport as clerk. The reports showed that the Mt. Olivet Baptist Church was organized October 8, 1894, with 58 members, and that it had adopted the Baptist rules of faith and practice and the church covenant; that the membership has increased to one hundred and twelve, and the average congregation from one hundred and seventy-five to two hundred; that the total collections during the two years have been $2,066.69, and that there is now nearly $100 in the treasury.

The recognition services were held in the evening, with a large congregation present. The services opened with the invocation by Rev. S. B. Harris of Lynn, which was followed by the recognition sermon by Rev. W. H. Scott of Boston. The Scriptura lesson was read by Rev. A. C. Powell of New Haven, the prayer of recognition was offered by Rev. J. Francis Robinson of Cambridgeport, the charge to the church was given by Rev. Walter Gay of Calvary Church, Haverhill, Mass., the right hand of fellowship, by Rev. W. H. Davenport of Philadelphia, and the services were closed with the benediction by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Watkins.

At the close of the services the women of the church held a sale. This evening Rev. W. H. Scott will deliver a lecture on "The Negro as a Warrior" at the church.

YACHT RACES FOR THE NORMAN PRIZES.

Instead of offering articles of use in boats, as he at first intended, Colonel Norman has decided to make the prizes for the club race of the Newport Yacht Club Monday next cash, thus giving the winners a chance to buy whatever is needed in their boats. The classes and the prizes in each are as follows: First class, over 22 feet—First, $15; second, $10; third, $5. Second class, 19 to 22 feet—First, $10; second, $7; third, $3. Third class, 16 to 19 feet—First, $8; second, $5; third, $3. Fourth class, under 16 feet—First, $6; second, $4; third, $2.

Entries can be made to C. S. Plummer, who has already received those of the Infanta, Prunella, Niobrara, Argo, Truant and Vesper. Not much time remains before the race, and boat owners should be prompt in making their entries.

The trustees of the Newport Hospital acknowledge with gratitude the receipt of the following amounts from the churches:

St. Joseph's	$120 00

TIVERTON.

Nonquit Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, held its regular meeting Wednesday evening, which was well attended. The lecturer's hour was in charge of the goddesses "Ceres," "Pomona" and "Flora," who furnished a fine musical entertainment, which opened with a piano solo by Miss Lottie Manchester, followed by "The Lost Child," a vocal solo, by Miss Carrie Hart; piano duet, "Qui Vive Galop," by Mrs. S. W. Hathaway and Miss Stella Almy; song, by Miss Lottie Manchester; illustrated silhouette by Miss Lillian Potter, piano solo, by Miss Stella Almy, who being encored, played Weber's last waltz.

At the meeting it was voted to have field day celebrated at Block Island some time in September.

The meeting of the Newport County Pomona Grange was arranged for next Tuesday, with the members of Portsmouth Grange, who a visitors from the Dartmouth, Little Compton and Rocky Hill granges will be present.

DISTRICT COURT.

The district court today was occupied more than two hours with criminal business from that old prolific source, Tiverton. Newport cases had the "go-by" except for a few minutes, during which the three colored women arrested in a house on West Broadway and tried last Tuesday were sentenced to six months at the state farm. They all claimed an appeal.

The Tiverton cases were not of the liquor genus, and the testimony showed that the new police officers in that border land, under Constable Ridge, have their eyes open all the time. There were several of them on hand, and they made good straightforward witnesses. It appears that Albert's slaughter house in Tiverton was broken into August 10 and two carcasses of veal and some beef stolen. Charles Robinson was accused of breaking and entering and stealing the meat. He was adjudged probably guilty, and bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

Peter McGough was accused of the larceny of a leg of veal, containing six or seven pounds, valued at $1.50. The testimony showed that McGough did not steal the veal, which came from the same slaughter house, but was present with Burns and Sullivan when the meat was sold, for thirty cents, to James Bailey. He was therefore found guilty of being an accessory after the fact, and sentenced to thirty days in the Providence county jail. He was taken up the river this afternoon by Constable Ridge.
